Deputy Sheriffs will go to Scott county to-day to summon 300 men from which number a jury will be selected at Lexington to try Jim Hargis on the charge of complicity in the murder of James Cockrill at Jackson. It is expected that the taking of testimony in the case will begin on Monday. Should Harris be acquitted it is probable that the indictments against the other Hargises and Callahan will be filed away, but should a conviction be secured the prosecution will press the cases against the others alleged to be in the conspiracy.

In an interview given the Associated Press, former Boss George B. Cox, of Cincinnati, a Foraker supporter, announces for Taft for President and Foraker for Senator. Upon being shown the interview, Mr. Foraker said he would abide by the will of Ohio Republicans and support Mr. Taft for President if they indicated that to be their wish. A conference of Ohio Republican leaders, to be held at Columbus next week, likely will indorse Taft.

Under a decision by the Court of Appeals, in a case from Marion county, no specific contract is necessary between a railroad within Kentucky and a carrier in order to make a shipment, originating outside the State to a point within the State, come under the definition of interstate commerce. The court holds that in such cases the State cannot control the rates, this power resting only with Congress.

Frank Ball, under sentence of life imprisonment in the penitentiary for the murder of Jack Bolen, at Middlesboro, must serve his term, the Court of Appeals having affirmed the judgment of the lower court. Ball was the indirect cause of a second man being killed in Virginia, when a posse was trying to effect his capture, after he had escaped from the Richmond jail.

The motion for a bill of particulars filed by the defense at Boise, Idaho, in the case of W. D. Haywood, secretary and treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, charged with the murder of former Gov. Steunenberg, was denied yesterday by Judge Wood. The case, it is expected, will go to trial to-day, and the work of selecting a jury will be taken up.

As a result of the resignation of the president of the National Association of State Railroad Commissioners and Interstate Commerce Commissioners, Chairman C. C. McChord, of the Kentucky Railroad Commission, has been honored by advancement to the post. He was vice president, having, missed election to be head of the organization by just one vote.

Fire in Kansas City yesterday destroyed the University building, occupied mainly by Montgomery Ward & Co. as an office building. One man was killed, six persons are missing and fifteen people were injured. The property loss is estimated at $250,000.

All industries in Paducah may be tied up by strikes within a short time as a result of the demands by carpenters and painters for increased wages. Other unions may walk out in sympathy with the strikers, and it is regarded as a fight to the death between union labor and the employers.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth ended their automobile trip in Kentucky with another breakdown. Their machine stopped at Sadieville and they were forced to take the local train there for Cincinnati, after trying to get a special.

EX-BOSS COX OUT FOR TAFT

Makes Plea For Party Harmony, In Interview.

Differences With Big Secretary "Things of Past."

Significant Statement By Senator Foraker.

ISSUE CALL FOR CONFERENCE.

Cincinnati, May 8.—Party harmony, victory in the municipal elections, this fall and next year, W. H. Taft for President, J. B. Foraker for United States Senator and A. L. Harris for Governor, is the programme advised by George B. Cox, former Republican leader in Hamilton county, in an interview with the Associated Press correspondent this afternoon. Reports from Columbus and Washington had named Mr. Cox as engaged in the conduct of negotiations looking toward a compromise between the Taft and Foraker forces, but Mr. Cox entered an emphatic and sweeping denial to such suggestions.

As far as I am concerned," he said, "there is absolutely nothing to this talk. I know of no such deal and would not take part in any such negotiations. I have retired from active participation in politics. Of course, I cannot absolutely refuse to advise with friends."

As to the Ohio situation, he said: "I'll give you my views, my personal views, as an individual and a private citizen, and then I want to be let alone. In my judgment the time has come for the good of the Republican party that something should be done. We are on the eve of next fall's elections. Nothing should be done to endanger party success. If you will recall, two years ago we had factional differences in the party and our ticket went down in defeat. This, I hope, will not occur again.

* * *

Should Get Together.

"Our differences should be settled within the party and we should go forward as one man, which will mean victory all along the line. Ohio has a great future. We have had great men in the past and have great men now. We should take care of them. The nomination of good, clean men for the municipal offices means their election, and party success next fall will be the foundation for next year's work. I would advise all my Republican friends in Ohio to take these matters into their own hands and adjust them without interference by individuals or factions. It is my best judgment that this would bring harmony and victory both.

"We must not forget that we must carry the Legislature next year to elect a United States Senator and get much needed legislation, and must elect a Governor and other State officers. The way to do all this, I believe, is for all Republicans to put their shoulders to the wheel in their several neighborhoods and see to it that none but true Republicans represent them. Our watchword should be 'Success for the Republican party,' and to achieve this we should support the Hon. W. H. Taft for President; the Hon. J. B. Foraker for United States Senator and the Hon. A. L. Harris for Governor."

"What about your personal differences with Secretary Taft?"

* * *

Forgets Past Matters.

"I know of no personal differences. There may have been some political differences, but they are things of the past and will not be permitted to stand in the way of party success. I would repeat, 'Republicans, let your watchword be harmony and party success.' My friends, I trust, will be for Taft for President, Foraker for Senator and Harris for Governor."

When the attention of Senator Foraker was called to the statement, he said:

"I have just read what Mr. Cox says. If I understand him correctly, he makes a specific recommendation, addressed to the Republicans of Ohio, as to what their action shall be in the convention of next year. I am not sure it calls for any response from me, but inasmuch as you seem to think it does, I will repeat that I do not want any political honors at the hands of the Republicans of Ohio except with their hearty indorsement. Therefore, if what Mr. Cox suggests and recommends should meet with their approval no one will support Secretary Taft more cordially than I shall."

Charles P. Taft, editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star, and brother of Secretary Taft, when shown the interview with Mr. Cox, said:

"Mr. Cox takes a broad view of the matter. He sees the opportunity to elect another Ohio President, and very wisely urges that we get together."

LIKELY TO DECLARE FOR TAFT.

Conference of Ohio Republican Leaders Set For Next Week.

Toledo, O., May 8.—Walter F. Brown, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, stated to-night that he will issue to-morrow a call for a meeting of that committee at the Buckeye Republican Club of Columbus, next Wednesday. The purpose will be to hold a party conference, to which will also be invited the members of the Republican State Executive Committee, the chairmen of the various county executive committees and the Republican members of Congress, to the end that a definite expression may be secured in regard to the party's choice for the presidential nomination and that party harmony may be restored.

On being pressed for some definite expression concerning this latest political move, Mr. Brown said:

"While various party leaders were urging the wisdom of a primary election, to be conducted by the State Central Committee, there was obvious impropriety on the part of a member of that committee who might be required to assist in formulating the rules governing such a primary, selecting the judges and clerks of election, fixing the polling places, deciding contests and canvassing the returns, in arraying himself on either side.

"Now that such a primary has been definitely abandoned, I am very glad to put an end to any apparent mystery about my position. Since the State convention in 1905, over which Secretary Taft presided as chairman, I have believed him to be the logical choice of the Republicans of Ohio for the presidency in 1908, and I heartily favor the movement to secure him an unequivocal indorsement at this time.

"In my judgment the meeting of the party leaders and joint committees at Columbus next week will result in an unanimous expression in favor of Secretary Taft."

ONE LIFE LOST AND SIX PEOPLE MISSING

FIRE DESTROYS BIG BUILDING IN KANSAS CITY.

NARROW ESCAPES FOR SCORES OF WOMEN.

PROPERTY LOSS IS $250,000.

Kansas City, Mo., May 8.—Fire here this afternoon destroyed the five-story University building at the northwest corner of Locust and Ninth streets, causing a property loss estimated at a quarter of a million dollars. One life was lost, six persons are missing and many may be buried in the ruins, and fifteen persons were more or less seriously injured. The debris is still burning to-night and cannot be searched until to-morrow.

The known dead:

GEORGE DE MARE, aged thirty-two years; an art instructor.

Among the missing is Miss Maud Witteborn, a piano teacher; last seen at the window of her studio, on the fifth floor.

The injured:

Miss Alexandria Klumberg, a Russian Countess, skull fractured; may die.

Maud Speyer, fell from ladder; serious.

Mrs. Eva S. Boyle, Sheridan, Mo.; fell from ladder; severe.

J. M. Kranichfield, fireman; leg broken.

William Vandusen, fireman; serious.

Peter Karagaard, violin teacher; fell from fire escape; serious.

The University building was built by the Pepper estate, of Philadelphia, for the Y. M. C. A., and the cornerstone was laid by President Cleveland during his first administration.

The building was of brick, five stories high, and extended one hundred feet north on Locust street and half a block west on Ninth street. It was abandoned by the Y. M. C. A. ten years ago. Since then the first and second floors have been occupied by Montgomery, Ward & Co., who used it as offices and employed 200 clerks, mostly girls. It contained two small auditoriums, one of which, on the third floor, was used by the Kansas City Athenaeum, which was holding a session when the fire started to-day, half a hundred prominent women being in attendance. The third, fourth and fifth floors were occupied by artists and musicians, and some of the upper rooms were used as living apartments. There was but one elevator in the building, adjoining a stairway, the only means of exit.

The fire started a few minutes before 3 o'clock in the basement, in a quantity of twine, in the Montgomery, Ward & Co. storeroom, close to the elevator. Ten minutes after the fire broke out the flames began shooting up the elevator shaft, and escape save by the fire-escapes was shut o.ff The halls quickly filled with a dense smoke, and ten minutes later, when the fire department arrived upon the scene, people crowded almost every window, appealing for help, while scores of others, mostly women and girls, filled the fire-escapes and were climbing wildly to the ground.

MISS LAWTON TO UNVEIL MONUMENT TO FATHER.

Programme of Ceremonies To Be Held In Indianapolis Arranged By Committee.

Indianapolis, May 8.—The commission having in charge the unveiling of the monument to Brig. Gen. Henry W. Lawton, which will take place here on May 30, has completed the programme of exercises, which will begin at 3 o'clock, following a luncheon at the home of Vice President Fairbanks, in honor of President Roosevelt.

The Rev. D. R. Lucas, former Chaplain of the National organization of the Grand Army of the Republic, will offer prayer, followed by a brief address by Gov. J. Frank Hanly. James Whitcomb Riley will read his poem, "The Home Voyage," written after the death of Gen. Lawton, who was killed at San Mateo, Phillippine Islands, December 19, 1899, and the address of the day will be delivered by President Roosevelt. The statue will be unveiled by Miss Lawton, a daughter of the dead soldier.

SECOND VICTIM OF STRIKE RIOT

Two Others Are Not Expected To Recover.

Police Make Better Showing In San Francisco.

Two Cars Operated Over Six Miles of Track.

DISORDER ALL ALONG LINE.

San Francisco, May 8.—The second death as the result of yesterday's street car riot occurred this afternoon when John Buchanan, a car shop employe, twenty-one years of age, died at the Emergency Hospital. He was shot through the abdomen. Two others, Albert C. Palm, a chauffeur, and Nathan Leiser, a sixteen-year-old boy, are not expected to live.

The police for the first time since the commencement of the strike furnished actual protection this afternoon for two of the United Railroad cars manned by twenty-one strike breakers, and as a result of this protection these cars were run over six miles of track without the firing of a shot.

Four men, one a strike breaker, the other three members of the Electrical Workers' Union, were injured. There was intermittent hurling of missiles by union crowds at various points, and for two or three miles a mob of at least 1,000 men and boys ran with the cars, yelling, calling epithets, daring the nonunion men to get off the cars and fight; cheering vociferously whenever for any cause the cars were brought temporarily to a standstill.

* * *

Police In Automobiles.

About twenty police officers and patrolmen, led by Chief Dinan, some of them in automobiles, a number mounted on horses and others afoot, accompanied the cars. Assistant President Mullaly, Superintendent Chapman and other officers of the railroad kept pace in automobiles with the cars. The route selected was through the better class business and residence streets of the western addition and the Richmond district. The start was made at 3 o'clock and the run completed two hours later.

From its commencement to its finish the police displayed decision, energy and determination in dealing with the howling crowds. When necessity arose they did not hesitate to draw their clubs and use them and as a result a number of heads were bruised.

The fact that cars were to be started from Oak and Broderick instead of from Turk and Fillmore streets did not become generally known until after noon. A few minutes after 2 o'clock two covered wagons containing the twenty-one strike-breakers who were to man the cars, emerged into Turk street from the company's yards and were driven at a gallop to Oak and Broderick, mounted policemen escorting.

Capt. Gleason had instructions from Chief Dinan to board the cars with a detail of officers as soon as any disturbance was made and search the operatives for revolvers. He was to arrest and send to headquarters any of the strike-breakers whom he found armed. The instructions were conveyed to Assistant President Mullaly immediately after the arrival of the nonunion men and after a brief conference Mr. Mullaly gave his word that none of the men would be armed. This promise was rigidly kept and there was no search by the police.

* * *

The Start Was Tame.

The start from Oak and Broderick at 3 o'clock was a tame affair compared with yesterday's experience. Chief Dinan, Capts. Martin and Gleason, Police Commissioner Hagerty and Officer McKevitt led in an automobile. The crowd of five or six hundred men and boys collected at the starting point did nothing more serious than to howl and jeer as the cars proceeded out Oak street.

The first stone was thrown at McAllister and Deviseredo streets by a union man. It struck John Davison, one of the guards, in the mouth and laid his lip open. He was knocked to his knees on the platform. The sight of blood streaming from the man's face caught the eyes of the mob as Davison staggered to his feet, and it set up a cheer. The cars were stopped at once and Superintendent Chapman went to the injured man's assistance. He boarded a car while the crowds hooted and led Davison to an inside seat. He stood there beside the bleeding guard for ten or fifteen minutes while the car was under way.

* * *

Second Blood Drawn.

Second blood was drawn at Hayes street and Masonic avenue, where three members of the electQrical workers' union, mounted on a supply wagon, blocked the track. Mounted Officer Budd finally lashed the men's horses with his quirt and got the wagon out of the way. The electricians, cursing and threatening revenge, forced their wagon between one of the cars and an automobile and kept pace. Budd ordered them away and to enforce the order struck the union driver several stinging blows in the face with his quirt. The man responded with fist blows and finally as Budd rode alongside struck him in the face with a pair of heavy pliers. At this half a dozen policemen came to Budd's assistance. They clubbed the three union men until blood flowed freely from gashes in their heads and dragged them from their wagon. The men were arrested on a charge of assault.

When Hays and Devisidero streets was reached a big mob blocked progress. Here the nonunion men had trouble in taking a switch, and for ten minutes stones flew from the hands of strikers and their friends. Several stone throwers were knocked down with fist blows and clubs by policemen.

A carpenter working on a scaffolding threw his hatchet. It found lodgment in the foremost car but struck no one. The man was captured by two officers and arrested for assault with a deadly weapon. At another point on Hayes street a bartender stepped out of a saloon and tossed a revolver into a light wagon driven by H. R. Hoag. Hoag picked up the weapon, and the police, thinking he had pulled a pistol and was about to shoot, seized him and took the pistol away. He explained and was released.

Officer Steiner, one of the most active in forcing back the crowds, broke his club in beating a striker, and thereafter made use of his fists.

Mr. Mullaly stated that cars would be operated again to-morrow.

* * *

Strikebreakers From Kentucky.

A majority of the strike-breakers who manned the cars to-day came from Kentucky.

Conferences of United Railroad officials and officers of the Carmen's Union were held with Mayor Schmitz in his office to-day. They were productive of no results.

Chief of Police Dinan was asked today about the report that he had threatened to arm the police with rifles and order them to shoot the strike-breakers if the latter opened fire from the cars. Dinan said:

"I did not say exactly that. I told the attorneys of the company that if the strike-breakers were going to shoot down my men we had a few rifles at headquarters ourselves and we would use them. This was after I had heard of the shooting of Detective Sergeant Bell and Officer Sauer."

TROOPS NOT CALLED.

Mistake Due To Bad Telephone Connection Causes Report.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 8.—Through a mistake due to a poorly working telephone wire, the entire Seventh regiment, California National Guard, this afternoon was made ready to go to San Francisco under orders of the commanding officer, Gen. Wansowski, of this city. Adjt. Gen. Louck called up Gen. Wansowski and ordered him to come at once to Sacramento. The wire worked badly, and Gen. Wansowski understood the entire regiment had been ordered to San Francisco. He at once arranged for a special train, but in a telephone conference with Gov. Gillette at Sacramento the error was discovered.

FIRST HOSTESS AT FORT BOONESBORO

MRS. M. B. HAYCRAFT WILL SERVE AT JAMESTOWN.

LOGAN C. MURRAY ON DUTY AT EXPOSITION.

FORMAL OPENING IN FEW DAYS

Norfolk, Va., May 8.—[Special.]—Logan C. Murray, a member of the Kentucky commission to the Jamestown Exposition, arrived here to-night from Hot Springs, Va. Since leaving his home in Louisville he attended in Princeton, N. J., a meeting of the board of directors of Princeton University. From there he went to Hot Springs, to a meeting of the executive counsel of the American Bankers' Association.

Mr. Murray was joined here by Mrs. M. B. Haycraft, of Frankfort, Ky., his niece. She will act as the first hostess of the Kentucky building at the exposition. In the matter of a hostess Kentucky will bear another unique distinction at this exposition, being the only State which will not have the continuous services of the same hostess. It was early provided by the Kentucky commission, in view of the limited funds at its command, that the resident commissioner should call upon some member of his family or some friend to serve as hostess, thus doing away with a salaried position.

Mrs. Haycraft is a charming woman, and it will fall to her lot to preside at the social functions marking the formal opening of the Fort of Boonesboro. Delay in opening the main building has been caused by failure to receive the carpets. The last of these arrived to-day, having been lost for a period of two weeks. This will be laid at once and the final arrangement of the building will be completed with a view of the formal opening of the doors within the next few days.

Mr. Murray will leave for home tomorrow.

POSSE STILL AFTER TWO TRAIN ROBBERS.

Suspects In Custody Are Not Believed To Be the Guilty Men.

Butte, Mont., May 8.—With three suspects and a witness in the custody of the Sheriff, the posse on the trail of the masked men who held up the North Coast Limited at Welch's Spur yesterday and murdered Engineer Clow and wounded Fireman Sullivan are still at large in the hills. More than fifty men are patroling the ridge of the divide east of Butte, where the dogs lost the trail yesterday. Robert McDonald was arrested at Woodville last night. He denies any connection with the Clow murder.

William Powers, arrested in Woodville yesterday, and William Crawford, who says he met the robbers on top of the express car just before they opened fire, are still in custody.

COURT CLEARS WAY FOR TRIAL

No Bill of Particulars For William D. Haywood.

Judge Fremont Overrules Motion of Defense.

Work of Securing Jury To Begin To-day.

NEW LAWYER FOR DEFENDANT

Boise, Idaho, May 8.—By overruling to-day the motion of the defense for a bill of particulars, setting forth whatever acts, if any, there were to connect the accused with the murder of former Gov. Frank Steunenberg, Judge Fremont Wood, of the District Court of Ada county, cleared the way for the trial of William D. Haywood, secretary of the Western Federation of Miners, which will begin to-morrow morning. Judge Wood held that the request of Haywood's counsel for a more explicit statement of the charges against the prisoner came too late, regardless of whether or not it might have been entertained at an earlier stage of the proceedings. In cases where bills of particulars are allowable, the man who is to preside over the trials of the accused miners declared the motions must be made before the indictments are pleaded to and before the cases are set for trial.

Haywood is the first of the four men accused of complicity in the Steunenberg murder to be selected for trial. The others, Moyer, Pettibone and Orchard, the last of whom is said to have made a confession, will be tried as circumstances dictate, following the conclusion of the proceedings against Haywood.

* * *

Ready For Trial.

To-night the prisoner, his counsel and the attorneys specially retained to present the case, and plead the cause of the accusing State, are ready for the long ordeal in court. The first and one of the great tasks of the court is to secure a jury, and that will be commenced to-morrow morning, as soon as Sheriff Hodgin has intoned the formal cry opening the court. Estimates of the time necessary to select twelve men vary, but practically none of them place the time under three weeks. The victim of the Caldwell assassination, long a conspicuous figure in the political life of the State, was possibly known to hundreds of citizens of Ada county, and personal alignment and partisanship on the labor question, in which the prisoner and his co-defendants were for a long time active leaders, is quite general, so that it is at once a difficult and delicate task to find men free from the disqualifications that unfit them for the high duty of a juror.

Many men who know the community very well, and who add to their calculations the further handicap of apprehension of future violence for revenge, take the extreme view that it will be impossible to secure a jury, but the weight of opinion is against this extreme conclusion.

* * *

Scope of the Case.

There is as yet no indication of the scope of the case which the State will seek to prove against Haywood. It is naturally assumed, however, that Messrs. Hawley and Borah will seek to make the showing as to the alleged conspiracy as broad as possible without endangering it upon appeal, assuming that there is a conviction. Discussing this phase of the case one of the counsel for the prisoners said:

"The broader the scope of the case offered by the State, the better we will be satisfied."

Nearly forty correspondents for press associations and newspapers have come here to report the case, and special wire arrangements have been made for the transmission of dispatches. One of the prettiest little cities, Boise is characteristically serene and placid on the eve of the first of the great trials. There was no great influx of visitors to-day. The newspapers and magazine writers and others whose business has called them here have arrived singly and in twos and threes during the last ten days. All have been surprised at the seeming lack of interest manifested by the citizens. One finds that the discussion is confined almost entirely to the newcomers.

The residents of Boise seem satisfied that equal justice will be done and they are content to let the matter be threshed out in a court of law. This city is far removed from the mining country, railway communication with the Coeur d'Alene and other districts being circuitous.

* * *

Farmers For Jurymen.

Ada county, in which Boise is situated, is a country of large agricultural interests. Irrigation has made the land wonderfully fertile and farming is the great industry. Labor unions and unionism are practically unknown to the men who till the soil. It is from among the farmers that the jury may be selected.

There is nothing on the surface to-night to indicate any feeling in any quarter of the county either for or against the prisoners. While the authorities of the county and State have undoubtedly laid careful plans to meet any emergency they do not purpose to act until they have to.

The streets to-night are being patrolled only by the regular platoon of the city police force. The people are occupied by their business and social pleasures and there is absolutely nothing to indicate that the trial which has created such widespread interest throughout the world is about to begin.

A striking illustration of the unruffled atmosphere at Boise was the fact that this afternoon Mrs. Gooding, wife of the Governor, was hostess at a fashionable reception and luncheon at the Idaho Hotel, where she and the Chief Executive of the State are making their home.

* * *

Few People In Court.

The proceedings in court to-day, with Haywood in attendance, attracted less than a score of persons outside of the lawyers and newspaper men. There is little indication that the attendance to-morrow will be much larger, although preparations have been made to handle a large crowd. The fact that many days must be spent in jury-getting may have something to do with the lack of interest manifested at this stage of the proceedings. The people, as a whole, are also completely in the dark as to the details of the case the State claims to have against the accused men. The fact that Harry Orchard, who says he placed the bomb which destroyed Gov. Steunenberg, is supposed to have made a confession, is about all that the public is aware of. Neither the prosecution nor the defense has cared to make its plans common property.

Haywood and his fellow prisoners, Moyer and Pettibone, who are detained in the county jail beneath the courthouse, were out upon the lawn this afternoon enjoying the sunshine. They played at quoits and other games. Members of Haywood's family called and spent several hours with him. The prisoners express confidence at the outlook and believe they will be acquitted of any complicity in the murder. They are anxious for their trials to proceed promptly and without interruption.

* * *

The Array of Attorneys.

The defense sprang a decided surprise to-night by announcing the retention of Edgar L. Wilson, of Boise, as assistant counsel. Mr. Wilson is a former law partner of Judge Freemont Wood, who is to preside at the trials. He served two terms in Congress and is well known throughout the West as an able lawyer. He is thoroughly conversant with the details of practice in the local courts and is regarded by both sides as adding strongly to the array of legal talent on the side of the accused miners. The other attorneys representing Haywood to-morrow and throughout the trial will be E. F. Richardson, of Denver, C. S. Darrow, of Chicago, Frederick Miller, of Spokane, and John F. Nugent, of Boise. John F. Murphy, of Denver, general counsel for the Western Federation of Miners, is here and may act in an advisory capacity, but will take no active part in the trial owing to ill health.

Representing the State will be James Hawley, of Boise, one of the best-known criminal lawyers in the West; United States Senator W. E. Borah, Public Prosecutor O. H. Van Duyn, of Ada county, and George Stone, Special Attorney for Canyon county, in which the murder was committed. Caldwell, where Gov. Steunenberg lived, is the county seat of Canyon county. A change of venue was taken to Boise upon the application of the defense, it being contended that a fair trial at Caldwell, would be impossible.

PADUCAH INDUSTRIES MAY ALL BE TIED UP

STRIKE OF UNION CARPENTERS AND PAINTERS.

MAY SPREAD TO ALL FORMS OF ORGANIZED LABOR.

INCREASED WAGES DEMANDED.

Paducah, Ky., May 8.—[Special.]—What promises to be a historic strike in Paducah has been started this week by the carpenters and painters, who have the Federation of Labor behind them. International officers will arrive to-morrow to take charge of the strike and the national officers of the Federation of Labor say they will back the strikers with all the money at their command, as this will be a life and death struggle of unionism in Paducah. There are 112 carpenters and about half that number of painters involved. Five of nine big contractors have signed the carpenters' scale of thirty-seven and one-half cents an hour, and the same number have signed the painters' scale of forty cents an hour.

The carpenters to-day issued a statement of their position to the public. Contractors are using "saw and hammer men," but if the Federation of Labor takes a hand, pressure will be brought to bear, and all the industries in Paducah may be demoralized by the strike. Only railroad union men are not affiliated with the Federation, but it is understood that if the struggle becomes critical they will join. All the caulkers and ship builders would be called out in sympathy.

FAMOUS RAIDER OF MOONSHINE STILLS

CHARLES M. RANDALL DIES NEAR LONDON—DEPUTY MANY YEARS.

London, Ky., May 8.—[Special.]—Charles M. Randall, of this city, one of the best-known men in this part of the State, died suddenly at the home of Stephen Box, three miles from here, to-day. Mr. Randall served as general deputy collector some twelve or fifteen years, and until he retired, about a year ago.

He was perhaps the most noted moonshine raider in the State in his day. He first entered the revenue service under Gen. Landrum as office deputy when the latter was collector. His father, Judge W. H. Randall, was formerly Circuit Judge and member of Congress from this district. He was a brother-in-law of the late Congressman Vincent Boreing and a great-grandson of ex-Gov. Slaughter.

Mr. Randall made a splendid record as an officer and was widely known. Mr. Randall's wife, who was a Miss McKee, died several years ago. He leaves an only child, a little daughter, Patsy, about ten years old. Arrangements have not yet been made for the funeral, but the burial will take place here Friday.

NEW FRIENDS IN HOOSIER STATE

Heads of Houses Leave Thousands of Them.

Will Follow Up Commercial Evangelization.

Two-Days' Trip Altogether Successful.

ARE ROYALLY WELCOMED.

Glad to get back to their Old Kentucky Home, but deeply appreciative of the hospitality extended by citizens of Southern Indiana towns, the "Heads of Houses," who composed the Board of Trade excursion party to the Hoosier State, arrived in Louisville last night after a strenuous day of commercial evangelism through social intercourse and expressions of good will and friendship. The trip was a success from every standpoint, and the officials of the Board of Trade, who planned it and put it into execution so satisfactorily, were congratulated by all on their efforts.

The trip developed one fact that will be of immense advantage to Louisville merchants—Southern Indiana presents a fertile field for the marketing of the products of the Gateway City, and her people are tuned to the right pitch to receive visits from Louisville traveling salesmen. The visits to the various towns and cities did much to strengthen the friendly relations already existing between Louisville merchants and merchants of the Hoosier State. It was said often yesterday that Southern Indiana belongs to Louisville if Louisville will only seize the opportunity.

The first day's trip ended Tuesday night at Vincennes, and the Colonels started early yesterday morning on their homeward swing. Washington, Loogootee, Mitchell, Seymour and North Vernon were visited in the order named, and at each place the reception was so hearty that the excursionists felt like prolonging their stay. They also visited French Lick Springs, met Thomas Taggart, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, spoke a good word for Louisville as the next convention city, and saw some of the "sights." At the special invitation of Col. W. W. Hite, president of the Board of Trade, the members of the Commercial Club Committee who went to French Lick Springs yesterday to ask Mr. Taggart to be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given next Tuesday night, accompanied the Board of Trade excursionists home and helped them renew old friendships and make new friendships in Seymour and North Vernon.

Judging from the expressions of various "Heads of Houses" last night, no trip ever planned by the Board of Trade will prove more beneficial to Louisville than the trip that ended yesterday. It opened the eyes of the merchants of Louisville afresh to the sterling characteristics of Indiana people and to the commercial possibilities of the country through which they passed. It also showed the people of Indiana who already did not know, the kind of business men Louisville turns out. Merchants of Indiana and Kentucky met in a social way and came to understand that their interests intertwine and that they can best be conserved by honest dealing and strict integrity.

The work of the First Kentucky regiment band on the trip was of the highest order. The boys were always willing and never appeared to be tired. They made a most favorable impression at each of the towns visited.

Second Day of Handshaking.

After a half night's rest in the Pullmans the Board of Trade excursionists were up early yesterday morning and bidding farewell to "Alice of Old Vincennes" began the return journey by way of Washington, Loogootee, Mitchell, French Lick Springs and North Vernon. All the members of the party were in fine fettle for the second day of hand-shaking with the Indiana merchants and well pleased with the reception accorded them en route to Vincennes. On account of the lateness of the hour at which they arrived Tuesday night they were not able to see much of the historic little city, which was at one time the capital of the Northwest territory and around which lingers as a halo the me mory of such men as William Henry Harrison and George a halo the memory of such men as Vincennes were handicapped by the late arrival, but offered a street car ride over the city and a visit to the skating rink, and the glimpse of Vincennes revealed in that short time was accepted as a guarantee of the attractiveness and energy of the town on the banks of the Wabash.

A drizzling rain was falling when the excursionists reached Washington, the first stop of the second day's journey, but this fact did not dampen the ardor of the Colonels or the hearty welcome extended by the business men of this prosperous Indiana town. Although the train arrived at an early hour a large party of business men met the "Heads of Houses" at the station and headed by the First Kentucky Regiment band they marched to the new Knights of Columbus Hall, where formal greetings were extended. "There's a Reason" went to the station to meet the visitors. The programme was practically the same as at Washington. Headed by the two bands, the hosts and visitors marched to the Opera House, and while the bands were giving a concert without, expressions of friendship and cordial commercial relations were being extended within. R. E. King presided and made the address of welcome. He expressed regret that the visitors' stay was so brief and urged that they should stay longer and partake of the hospitality of the town and its citizens. He said that 80 per cent of the citizens of Loogootee were natives of Kentucky and that the rest were descendants of Kentuckians. He assured the business men that they could find a market for their goods at Loogootee and in the surrounding country if they would only send their representatives and have them become acquainted with the merchants.

Col. Hite responded on behalf of the Board of Trade briefly and to the point, calling attention to the Kentucky State Fair to be held in September and to Board of Trade briefly and to the point, was at Churchill Downs. Mr. King then introduced Mr. Blitz, who made a capital speech in which humor and happy sentiments were charmingly blended. Mr. Blitz referred to the Ohio river as being unnecessary, and said laughingly that Louisville did not really need the water.

"I think," said he, "that is one reason why the building of our filter plant, which has come to be classed with century plants, is being delayed. We really do not need the water." He also spoke of the annexation ordinances now pending in the City Council and said that what he wanted to see was the annexation to Louisville of Southern Indiana. He also invited the residents of the city to visit Louisville during the races and promised them as many "winners" as Louisville people could pick themselves. Mr. Blitz spoke at length of the growth of Louisville into a Greater Louisville and promised a hearty welcome and fair dealing from all Louisville merchants to those who come to the Gateway City to market.

Loogootee People Welcome.

The citizens of Loogootee were then invited to the buffet car and given an inkling of the good things they might get when they came to Louisville. The Loogootee Band accompanied the excursionists to the station and as the train pulled out the strains of "Dixie" and "My Old Kentucky Home" floated out on the air.

Loogootee is a market that might well be cultivated by the merchants of Louisville. It is one of the most important glass manufacturing towns in Indiana and boasts of a window glass factory employing 100 operatives, a bottle and fruit-jar factory with 125 operatives and the finest deposit of glass sand in the country. It is also in a good agricultural community and its merchants are wide-awake and progressive. The bulk of their trade has heretofore gone to Indianapolis, but the visit of the "Heads of Houses" will do much to divert the attention of Loogootee merchants to Louisville as a market. A feature of the stop at Loogootee was the presence of many ladies, who were as cordial in their welcome to the Kentucky visitors as the merchants.

En route to Mitchell, the next stop, the train was delayed half an hour by an accident to a freight train, which was just ahead of the special. The freight train broke in two and it was necessary to call upon the crew of the excursion train before the train could pass. A stop of only a few minutes was made at Mitchell. The First Kentucky Regiment Band serenaded the town and then the train was transferred to the Monon and pulled out for French Lick Springs, where the excursionists dined.

Dinner At French Lick Springs.

The Colonels arrived at Tom Taggart's famous resort shortly after 1 o'clock and headed by the band marched to the hotel, through the lobby to the dining-room on the second floor, where dinner was served. Mr. Taggart was present and extended the Louisville business men a hearty welcome. The "Heads of Houses" were also greeted by the Commercial Club Committee, which went to French Lick Springs to invite Mr. Taggart to be the guest of the club next Tuesday night in order that he may become better acquainted with Louisville people and understand Louisville's ability to care for the next Democratic National Convention.

Mr. Taggart met many of the members of the Board of Trade personally and after dinner was formally introduced to them by Col. Hite. Mr. Taggart spoke a few words of welcome and then said:

"A Democratic National Convention will be held next year and the next President will be nominated by that convention. We are now looking for a suitable place to hold it."

"Louisville wants it," came from different parts of the room.

"And Louisville can handle it," added an enthusiast.

"Well," said Mr. Taggart, "I don't want to see it go too far away from home."

"Louisville's the place," came the cry from the "Heads of Houses."

Further than this Mr. Taggart would not commit himself.

The members of the special Commercila Club Committee, R. E. Hughes, Fred Levy, A. T. Macdonald, E. H. Bacon, W. H. Bradbury, R. A. McDowell and John D. Wakefield, at the special invitation of Col. Hite, accompanied the Board of Trade excursionists home from the resort. Some of the more daring members paid a visit to the club rooms, where the little ball spins round and drops into one of many pockets, and where little horses put up an exciting race. There was but little doing, however, and some of the party wanted to remain over until night, when, it is said, the "stars shine." Business before pleasure was the motto, however, and all were corraled by R. S. Brown and J. J. Telford and the trip back to Mitchell and thence to Seymour was begun at 2:45.

Welcome Waiting At Seymour.

Seymour, which is located at the junction of the B. and O. and the Pennsylvania Lines, boasts a population of 8,000 and is one of the most important cities in Southern Indiana. Having exceptional railroad facilities, it is naturally a manufacturing community, and its factories find that a large portion of their products are marketed in Southern States. The largest winter wheat milling plant in Indiana is located in Seymour and employs 100 operatives. The city also boasts of two large furniture factories, a cold storage warehouse, spoke works and corn products manufactory. Its merchants are enterprising and have organized a Merchants' Association with about fifty members, all of whom actively work for the best interests of their city.

The Board of Trade special reached Seymour at 5:15 and the visitors were met at the station by a committee of citizens, headed by Dr. H. R. Kyte, Mayor, and Fred Able, President of the Merchants' Association, and were escorted to the City Hall, where greetings were exchanged. Mayor Kyte introduced Joseph Matlock, who spoke a word of welcome and praised the people of Seymour for their hospitality and thrift. He said that a more hospitable and enterprising community could not be found north of the Ohio river. Mr. Matlock provoked loud applause when he referred to the fact that at one time the natural trend of trade was down the Ohio river valley, and expressed the opinion that that should still continue to be the main artery of commerce. Mr. Matlock referred to the fact that Seymour is soon to be connected with Louisville by an electric line. "I don't know whether we shall annex Jeffersonville when that line is completed or not, but if we do we shall stretch our hands across the Ohio and welcome you to Seymour as we do now."

Louisville His Text.

Col. Hite responded briefly on behalf of the Board of Trade and introduced Col. Belknap.

"I shall take my text in the first verse of the first chapter of the first book of 'Commerce,'" said Mr. Belknap, "and that spells 'Louisville'—at least for to-day." Col. Belknap urged that Louisville was the natural market for Seymour and other towns in Southern Indiana and spoke of the three connecting links between the two States in the three bridges that span the Ohio at Louisville. He extended an invitation to the merchants of Seymour to visit Louisville and promised them a cordial welcome and honest dealing from the business men of the Gateway City. Among the business men of Seymour who welcomed the "Heads of Houses" were Mayor Kyte, Mr. Able, C. F. Lewis, secretary of the Merchants' Association; John Connor, G. Grub, John Ross, Willis Johnson, John Klein, William Peters, Charles Stein, Thomas Stanfield, T. S. Bilsh, Roy Miller, Nathan Kaufman, Ben Schneck, Frank Voss, C. H. Ahlbrand, C. Abel, E. A. Remy, Gus Cordes, P. A. Nichter and William Husted.

Reception At North Vernon.

It was 6:30 o'clock when the Board of Trade excursionists arrived at North Vernon and on account of the lateness of the hour the greetings were extended at the station. Col. Hite introduced Congressman Sherley as the best Congressman Kentucky had ever had, and the latter made a brief speech, assuring the people of North Vernon of the good-will of Louisville business men. James Doggett, on behalf of the North Vernon business men, thanked the members of the excursion for the courtesy of their visit. There were calls for David Hirsch, and the genial business man was boosted on a baggage truck and forced to make a speech. He said: "Gentlemen and Ladies: I am glad to see so many welcome faces before me. I wish I were an orator. I thank you for your attention."

The business men of North Vernon wore badges inscribed "Welcome L. B. T." On the Reception Committee were James Doggett, Jacob Friesz, John Linkhart, Edward Tech and Edward Williams. While the "Heads of Houses" paraded the principal streets headed by the First Regiment Band a dozen members of the party raided a popcorn stand and almost caused a car shortage by the enormity of their purchases.

Owing to the fact that the excursion train was an hour late, the stop at Charlestown was abandoned and the train came through to Louisville, arriving about 9 o'clock.

DINNER AT HUNTINGBURG.

Thriving City Receives Excursionists With Open Arms.

Huntingburg, a hustling town of 4,000 inhabitants, with a "10,000 in 1910" club, was the place selected for the dinner stop Tuesday, and its citizens received the excursionists with open arms. Huntingburg is a German community, and every name one sees over a business house reminds one of the German grammar, and the town is no exception to the rule that all German communities are hustling and thriving. In the town hall where the formal greetings were extended a motto for the public school commencement, given in that building Tuesday night, was stretched across the stage. It read: "Let Us Row, Not Drift." This might be taken appropriately for the motto of the little city.

Huntingburg boasts of a Citizens' Commercial Club and a Retail Merchants' Association, which work hand in hand for the city's good and have done much to upbuild the town. Numerous manufacturing industries are located here, and these two bodies do all in their power to see that others are offered all possible inducements. Attractive souvenirs were distributed by the citizens' committee, and from them the following facts in regard to the town are gleaned:

Huntingburg is located in the Southern Indiana coal field, and therefore coal for factory use is cheap; the city has excellent public schools, seven churches, a well-organized and paid fire department; a good system of waterworks with low rents; electric light plant; three newspapers; good factory sites adjoining railroad tracks, and splendid natural resources, such as fire and potters' clay, coal, oak, hickory and other kinds of timber. Huntingburg also has the following factories: Dry pressed brick works, carriage works, wagon factory, telephone cabinet works, band-saw mills, two planing mills, creamery, tile works, pottery, ice plant, brewery and bottling works.

Exercises At Town Hall.

After dinner at the Phoenix Hotel, the visitors, accompanied by the band and the Reception Committee of Huntingburg citizens, marched to the Town Hall, where the formal exercises were held. Dr. C. W. Schwartz, former Mayor of Huntingburg and at one time a resident of Louisville, presided and welcomed the Kentucky Colonels. In a few well-chosen words he extended the freedom of the city to the guests and then introduced Col. Hite, who in turn, introduced S. S. Blitz as the personal representative of Mayor Barth. It had been anticipated that Mr. Blitz would address the Huntington people in German, a tongue with which they are more familiar than with English, but he used the "King's Best." His speech was none the less enjoyed for that fact. He brought the friendly greetings of Mayor Barth to his hosts and complimented them on the enterprise displayed by the citizens in decorating the town and preparing so well for the entertainment of the visitors. He said that when he saw the badges with "C. C. C." and "R. M. A." on them and the legend "10,000 by 1910" he felt like pulling off his coat and helping them make it 10,000. Mr. Blitz explained that the visit was of a social nature, and that the excursionists had no ax to grind. "We are glad to be with you," he said in conclusion, "and want you to come to be our guests."

The following men served as members of the Reception Committee for the commercial bodies of Huntingburg: Philip Bamberger, C. W. Schwartz, E. W. Pickhardt, E. C. Dufenbach, A. H. Miller, Henry Landgrebe and Adam Stratman.

The run to Jasper, the county seat of Dubois county and a rival town of Huntingburg, was made in slow time because of the fact a new road bed through swampy land is being put on this line. More than half an hour was needed for a seven-mile run. The train was more than an hour late when it reached Jasper, and the scheduled stop of an hour had to be cut down fifteen minutes. The citizens of this thriving town had made ample preparations to receive their guests and there was a large crowd at the station to greet the business men of the Falls City. Col. Hite mounted a step of one of the cars and explained that on account of the unavoidable delays it would be impossible to prolong the visit, but that he knew that the hospitality of the citizens of Jasper was of the right sort without testing it. He then introduced Owen Gathright, who spoke briefly, further expressing the regret the excursionists felt at not being able to remain longer in the little city. However, he invited them to partake of the good cheer, which was waiting for them in the buffet car.

While the speech-making was going on at the station Col. Belknap and several others formed a parade and, headed by the band, marched to the courthouse and back just to show the citizens of Jasper the kind of business men Louisville produces and also to show them that their hospitality in preparing a hearty welcome was deeply appreciated. The Reception Committee was composed of about forty merchants and business men of Jasper, who were in line at the station. The town had been attractively decorated in national colors especially for the occasion. Those in charge of the arrangements on behalf of the citizens of Jasper were John L. Bretz, John A. Sermersheim, Ollie Sprauer, Jacob Kuntz, John Troxler, George Wagner, Frank Kunkel, Philip Kunkel, Philip Guckes, John Lorey, Joseph Gerber and W. S. Hunter.

NOTES AND SIDELIGHTS PICKED UP ON THE WAY.

—Col. W. W. Hite, of the Board of Trade, was the recipient of congratulations from all members of the party on the success of the trip. He had a strenuous task in answering the many addresses of welcome, but came under the wire full of run and ready for another mile.

—David Hirsch was the busiest man on the train. He saw that every one had a good time and was provided with everything he wished. Mr. Hirsch is a tireless worker and his efforts were appreciated. Additional honor goes to him by reason of the fact that his was the only speech reported by the men verbatim.

—John J. Telford had arranged things so well that few introductions or instructions were needed at the different towns visited.

—The railroad officials provided excellent accommodations for the excursionists and tried to impress each one with the fact that he was riding over the best roadbed in the country.

—"Charlie" Norton almost missed the train at Huntingburg, but by sprinting was enabled to grab the last car.

—None of the party will soon forget the ride from Huntingburg to Jasper. At times it seemed that they might never get back to Louisville.

—W. C. McLaughlin, division freight agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railway, accompanied the excursionists from Vincennes to Mitchell.

—C. H. Hungerford, of the Southern railway, deserted the party at Princeton after having done everything to make them comfortable for the night. He then turned the train over to R. S. Brown.

—J. M. Ryan, division freight agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railway, said of the trip: "If the merchants and manufacturers follow up this excursion by sending their evangelists into the field there is no question that good results will follow."

—"Charlie" Norton simply said: "Great success."

—R. S. Brown: "Dee-lighted; and the trip was dee-lightful."

—Wade Shellman, of the Franklin Printing Company, said: "I regard the business possibilities of Southern Indiana for Louisville as exceptional."

—R. E. Hughes, secretary of the Commercial Club, accompanied the "Heads of Houses" back from French Lick Springs, and said of the excursion: "I recall with pleasure a Board of Trade excursion down the river some years ago which set a high standard and one hard to equal, but, if possible, I believe this excursion has exceded that."

—Every member of the party was praising Congressman Sherley's speech at Princeton Tuesday night. It was a gem.

—Every member of the party finally learned how to pronounce Loogootee. This is the way—"Lo-go-ty."

—Col. Morris Belknap was particularly pleased with the thrift of the German citizens of Huntington and Jasper, and expressed the belief that those towns were a fertile market for Louisville merchants.

—James Clarke, Jr., said: "The air of prosperity about all the towns we visited was most marked. The high development of the agricultural resources was a surprise to me."

—E. H. Bacon, of the Monon, who returned with the party from French Lick Springs, said of the trip: "The Heads of Houses' excursions are the greatest monument ever erected by the Board of Trade. No effort made by commercial bodies of Louisville has produced or will bring about such results of material welfare as these visits to Southern Indiana and Kentucky."

—Princeton, Huntingburg and Corydon business men provided attractive souvenirs for the excursionists, telling something about their towns.

—All members of the party were high in praise of the entertainment provided by the merchants and Elks of Princeton.

—A. A. Bigelow said of the trip: "We saw business that we are not going after now, and that we can get if we do go after it."

—George B. Woodward said of the trip: "If this excursion is followed up good results should come."

—The First Kentucky Regiment band boys worked like Trojans and were ever ready when called upon.

—Councilman S. S. Blitz made a hit as an extemporaneous speaker. He always had a happy smile and a pleasant word for everyone.

—The Kentucky State Fair was boosted by every speaker and the representatives distributed attractive pamphlets telling something about the big exhibition.

—It was with regret that the visitors deserted French Lick Springs.

—Each member of the party boasts that he saw the original and only "Alice of Old Vincennes."

—But all were glad to get back to old Kentucky.

WHISKY HEARING

To Be Held By Mr. Bonaparte Next Wednesday.

RAISES HOPE IN BREASTS OF RECTIFIERS' FORCES.

OWENSBORO AND HENDERSON RATE CASE ARGUED.

OTHER NEWS OF THE CAPITAL.

Washington, May 8.—[Special.]—Attorney General Bonaparte announced to-day that next Wednesday at 11 a. m. he will hear those interested in the question of labeling whisky. This action is taken by the Attorney General as the result of the letters and telegrams which have been sent him by the rectifiers, asking for a further consideration of his recent decision, which was so pronouncedly in favor of the straight goods men.

It is understood here that the decision of the Attorney General to give a further hearing does not mean that he will certainly revise his decision. At the same time the rectifiers claim that the announcement of the head of the Department of Justice means that a chance is to be given them to place their case before him at an open hearing.

Warwick M. Hough, of St. Louis, counsel for the rectifiers, said to-night that all his clients want is a fair hearing. Mr. Hough, when told of the intention of the Attorney General, stated that he hoped the hearing would not be held as early as next Wednesday, as he had received requests to appear, from interested parties living both in England and Canada, and in addition to these, whisky men in this country would be inconvenienced if obliged to appear at so early a date. He probably will ask the Attorney General to extend the time.

Thinks Roosevelt Out of It.

Former Senator George F. Edmunds, of Vermont, believes the President will not accept a third term. He says that the President realizes the menace to the country involved in the third term principle, and that it will be impossible to compel him to run. "However much the President might be demanded to carry on the Government for another term," continued the Senator, "he would see what an enormously bad precedent it would be. By and by the man who might go up for a third term might take a majority of the voters of the country with him, and it would then require a revolution to get rid of him, or else, like some of our Southern republics, we would have to take him as President for life, just as Diaz in Mexico is the supreme ruler. Diaz is the absolute master of the situation in Mexico, and has been for years and years.

"Now, my belief is that President Roosevelt cannot be forced into setting a precedent of going beyond two terms. When Gen. Grant, as deservedly popular and beloved as he was, was put forward by his misguided political friends for a third term, he had so many real friends that they would not let him consent to be renominated for the very reason that I have here suggested. If Grant had been nominated I have not the slightest doubt he would have been badly defeated, because the sensible and thinking patriotic people of this country do not wish under any circumstances that can be reasonably expected to happen, to have a continuous run of more than two presidential terms. Therefore I am sure that President Roosevelt cannot be bullied into it."

Argue Kentucky Rate Case.

The Interstate Commerce Commission heard arguments this morning from Col. Bennett Young, of Louisville; former Senator Lindsay, of New York, and H. B. Harrison, of Louisville, in case of the Kentucky Railroad Commission vs. the Louisville and Nashville, the Illinois Central, the L. & N. and St. L. and thirty other railroads carrying freight by joint traffic arrangement to and from points south and north of the Ohio river to Owensboro and Henderson. The attorneys on each side were frequently interrupted by members of the commission and the impression prevails among those who heard the arguments that the Western Kentucky shippers have presented a strong case. Col. Young, for the shippers, was especially forcible and convincing. Mr. McChord was present as the representative of the Kentucky commission and expresses much satisfaction over the conduct of the case. Mr. McChord and Col. Young left for Pittsburg to-night.

How We Rank In Beer.

A report received from Consul General Wynne, of London, places the United States fifth in rank as a beer-consuming country, Germany, heretofore in the popular mind supposed to hold first place, is really third, according to Mr. Wynne's figures, while Belgium is first, United Kingdom second and Denmark fourth. The annual consumption of gallons of beer per capita in the United States is 16.8; in Belgium 48.8; in Germany and the United Kingdom about 27 each. Germany is the leading producer of beer, with 1,600,000,000 gallons last year. As a producer the United States is now in second place, with 1,400,0000,000 gallons, while the United Kingdom brews 1,300,000,000.

Chandler's Little Jest.

Former Senator Chandler, of New Hampshire, who acted as intermediary between the President and Senator Tillman on the Railroad Rate Bill, and for his trouble was given life membership in the Anacostia Club by the President, walked through the White House grounds with a party of friends this morning. Several standing in front of the White House asked him to come over.

"No admittance," replied the Senator.

To Try Holmes Alone.

The District Attorney and Special Assistant Beach will to-morrow ask Justice Stafford to decide the question of calling, prior to the summer recess, the case against Edwin S. Holmes, formerly of the Department of Agriculture. Holmes, with Peckham and Haas, is indicted for conspiracy in connection with the cotton leak scandal of summer before last. The Government seems unable to get Peckham and Haas in this jurisdiction, and it is likely that Holmes will be tried alone.

Dennis Flynn, ex-delegate from Oklahoma, was a visitor to the White House to-day. Discussing the new Constitution of Oklahoma, he said: "Washington has nothing to do with the matter at the present time, and it is impossible for the President to know whether he can sign the Constitution until he has seen an official copy of it. The copy handed to him some time ago, and now in the hands of the Attorney General, is not official. Consequently I do not see how he can pass upon it."

* * *

Defends Apportionment.

Joseph J. Shea, of Bartlesville, I. T., who is in Washington on business connected with the Department of the Interior, enters a defense of the alleged gerrymander of the new State of Oklahoma by the constitutional convention.

"The fact is," said Mr. Shea, "that the convention tried to arrange districts so as to avail most advantageously of present railroad facilities. There is a woeful shortage in the supply of east-and-west roads. In making the districts it was considered desirable to put some counties together and to divide others with reference to railroad facilities. That was the basis of the alleged injustices of the so-called gerrymander.

"There has been some misunderstanding about the situation regarding the new Constitution. The constitutional convention has not adjourned. It is still in legal existence, having merely taken a recess. If the President has misgivings about the Constitution he need only indicate them to the officers of the convention, which can meet again, consider the President's objections and give that body opportunity to adjust matters accordingly."

Opportunity For Farmers.

"If the farmers will only take advantage of it, the denatured-alcohol law enacted by Congress a year ago and amended this year, will be of immense profit to them," declared Representative Ebenezer J. Hill, of Connecticut, to-day. "I know of no reason why private stills should not be eventually in as general use as they are in Germany. In that country last year 90,000,000 bushels of potatoes were used by the farmers for manufacturing 70,000,000 gallons of alcohol. This was used for light, heat and fuel, practical appliances being in a high state of perfection. In this country with the intelligence of the farmers and their native industry I believe alcohol will largely supplant oil, as far as the farm is concerned. The final regulations for the carrying out of the law will be announced by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue about July 1."

* * *

Effect of Two-Cent Law.

Railroad officials are quick to deny the statement which has appeared within the past few days to the effect that the two-cent fare in Ohio has resulted in increased business and receipts. The contrary is stated to be the case, and a statement issued to-day quotes a report issued by the Cleveland and Marietta railroad for its proof. The report says:

This railroad operates entirely within the State of Ohio, so that its results bear directly upon the issue. The company is a part of the Pennsylvania system "west of Pittsburg."

These statistics show that during the year 1906 the number of passengers carried increased 46,726, or 13½ per cent., over 1905. There was also an increase of 751,536 in the number of miles passengers traveled, or 12.4 per cent., with an increase of 1.3 per cent. in the train mileage.

Notwithstanding the increase in train service and in the number of passengers carried, the passenger earnings decreased $4,399.50, or ¼ per cent. This was due altogether to a reduction in the average earnings per passenger per mile of .20 of a cent, or 12.2 per cent., as a result of the two-cent fare law.

It was possible to make a slight reduction in the cost of operation, but, notwithstanding this, the greater decrease in the rate received caused an increase in the loss per passenger per mile of .36 of a cent to .52 of a cent, or nearly 50 per cent., and, applied to trains, this loss means over 22 cents for every mile run by passenger trains during the year.

Under these conditions, it is a question as to how long the company will be justified in continuing the present passenger train service at the reduced fares.

RENEWS INVITATION TO DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN.

Board of Trade Sends Telegram To Thomas Taggart At French Lick Springs.

Every effort is being made by the Board of Trade to bring the next Democratic National Convention to Louisville, for its members realize what it would mean to the city should its efforts prove successful. Yesterday the directors sent a telegram to the Hon. Thomas Taggart, chairman of the National Democratic Committee, renewing the invitation given by the Board of Trade through a special committee in August, 1906. The telegram was as follows:

"The Hon. Thomas Taggart, Chairman National Democratic Committee, French Lick, Ind.: The Board of Trade of Louisville wants to remind you of the formal invitation to the National Committee to hold the next Democratic convention in Louisville, delivered by a committee of our members, headed by Gen. John B. Castleman, in New York, last August. The Board of Trade now renews that invitation, and asks that the claims of Louisville be examined and carefully considered. JAMES F. BUCKNER, JR.

BIG BUSINESS

Done By Fire Companies During Last Year.

MR. PREWITT, INSURANCE COMMISSIONER, FILES REPORT.

WILL SUGGEST NEW LAWS.

Frankfort, Ky., May 8.—[Special.]—The "Fire, Marine and Inland Insurance" volume of the thirty-seventh annual report of the State Insurance Commissioner for Kentucky has been made up under the supervision of Commissioner Henry R. Prewitt and will shortly be issued from the department.

The report shows that at the end of the year for which the report is made there were 131 companies of the class covered by the volume doing business in the State, as against 123 the year before. During the year twelve companies withdrew from the State and twenty entered to solicit business. Since the beginning of 1907 nine additional companies entered for business. The report shows the total risks in Kentucky, as reported by all companies, to have been $300,266,014.14. Of this total amount the business written was as follows: By Kentucky stock companies, $3,895,635.91; Kentucky mutuals, $2,978,965; Kentucky assessment, $3,437,717; foreign stock companies, $228,324,220.84, and foreign companies, $61,629,475.39. The total premiums collected during the year were $4,118,431.09. The losses paid amounted to $1,578,794.64. The ratio of losses paid to premiums received on business of stock companies of other States in Kentucky is 37 per cent. The loss ratio of the foreign companies on their Kentucky business is about 41 per cent.

In presenting this volume of his annual report, Commissioner Prewitt says he will not at this time make recommendation to the General Assembly as to needed laws and changes in present ones, but before the Assembly convenes next winter he will make suggestions as to a building and inspection law; a law regulating State and municipal taxation; a law preventing overinsurance, and the repeal of the valued policy law.

Report of Commissioner.

The introductory portion of the "fire" volume, giving the business of the several classes of companies embraced in the report, and other matters of the department reads as follows:

The Hon. S. W. Hager, Auditor—Sir: In compliance with the insurance laws of this State, I herewith submit Part 1 of the thirty-seventh annual report of this department, giving abstracts of the fire and fire marine insurance companies authorized to do business in this State, at the close of the year 1906.

On January 1, 1906, there were 123 fire and fire marine insurance companies doing business in the State by authority from this department. During the year the following twelve companies withdrew:

Atlanta-Birmingham Insurance Company, Birmingham, Ala.
Fireman's Fund Insurance Company, San Francisco, Cal.

New York Fire Insurance Company, New York, N. Y.
Security Fire Insurance Company, Baltimore, Md.

United States Fire Insurance Company, New York, N. Y.

The Farmers' Equitable Fire Insurance Company, located at Ozark, Marshall county, Ky., was incorporated May 4, 1906, and the following companies of other States were admitted:

American Insurance Company, Newark, N. J.
Cosmopolitan Fire Insurance Company, New York, N. Y.
Dixie Fire Insurance Company, Greensboro, N. C.
Fidelity Fire Insurance Company, New York, N. Y.
Firemen's Insurance Company, Newark, N. J.
Firemen's Fund Insurance Corporation, San Francisco, Cal.
Guardian Fire Insurance Company, Pittsburg, Pa.

Michigan Commercial Insurance Company, Lansing, Mich.
Milwaukee Fire Insurance Company, Milwaukee, Wis.

Spring Garden Insurance Company, Philadelphia, Pa.
Southern Fire Insurance Company, Lynchburg, Va.
Southern Insurance Company, New Orleans, La.
United States Fire Insurance Company, New York, N. Y.
Western Insurance Company, Pittsburg, Pa.

Thus making 131 companies authorized to do business at the end of the year.

It will be observed that the United States Fire Insurance Company, of New York, withdrew during the early part of the year (after the San Francisco fire), and re-entered the State before the close of the year.

* * *

New Companies Admitted.

Since the beginning of the year 1907, and up to the present time, April 27, the following companies have been admitted to do business in Kentucky:

Commonwealth Fire Insurance Company, Dallas, Tex.
Fireman's Fund Insurance Company, San Francisco, Cal.
Jefferson Fire Insurance Company, Philadelphia, Pa.
Mechanics and Traders Insurance Company, New Orleans, La.
Mercantile, Fire and Marine Insurance Company, Boston, Mass.
North State Fire Insurance Company, Greensboro, N. C.
Northwestern Fire and Marine Insurance Company, Minneapolis, Minn.
Security Insurance Company, New Haven, Conn.
Lumbermen's Mutual Insurance Company, Mansfield, O.

Upon the re-entrance of the Firemen's Fund Insurance Company, of San Francisco, Cal., the Firemen's Fund Insurance Corporation, which had reinsured the business of the first-named company, and had been admitted into the State during the year 1906, withdrew.

It will be observed that the Mercantile Fire and Marine Insurance Company, of Boston, Mass., which had retired from the State in 1906, has been again admitted.

The Lumbermen's Mutual Insurance Company, of Mansfield, O., is, as its name indicates, a mutual insurance company, and is the only one of its class, incorporated in another State, that is authorized to do business in Kentucky.

* * *

Kentucky Stock Companies.

The paid-up capital of the four stock fire insurance companies of Kentucky amounts to $800,000. Their total assets were on December 31, 1906, $1,153,455.73, an increase of $5,746.53; liabilities, except paid up capital and surplus, $234,066.46, a decrease of $84,860.34; surplus, $349,389.27, an increase of $91,607.17; income, $531,806.09, a decrease of $1,485.33; disbursements, $487,192.23, a decrease of $19,461.02; risks written, $41,177,866, a decrease of $2,099,743; premiums received, $343,128.72, a decrease of $140,239.38; losses paid, $291,105.03, an increase of $16,714.43.

The law does not require these companies to maintain any reserve, or fund for reinsurance. Their policyholders are all members, and their contracts are secured by statutory lien on the property insured, under the provision of Section 712 of Kentucky Statutes.

* * *

These figures include fire and fire marine business.

* * *

Risks written in the State, as reported by all companies (fire, inland and tornado business), were $300,266,014.14; the Kentucky stock companies writing $3,895,635.91; Kentucky mutuals, $2,978,965; Kentucky assessment companies, $3,437,717; stock companies of other States, $228,324,220.84; foreign companies, $61,629,475.39.

The premiums reported on Kentucky business amounted to $4,118,431.09; of this the Kentucky stock companies received $26,919.61; Kentucky mutuals, $20,164.37; Kentucky assessment companies, $76,549.11; stock companies of other States, $3,075,328.29; foreign companies, $919,469.71.

The losses paid in the State are given as $1,578,794.64; Kentucky stock companies paying $19,920.59; Kentucky mutuals, $4,895.89; Kentucky assessment companies, $39,467.68; stock companies of other States, $1,137,752.40; foreign companies, $376,757.08.

The ratio of losses paid to premiums received on the business of stock companies of other States in Kentucky is 37 per cent.

The loss ratio of the foreign companies on their Kentucky business is about 41 per cent.

The amount collected by the Auditor through this department for taxes on premiums received by all classes of insurance companies for the year ending June 30, 1906, was $345,681.86.

The sum of the receipts for fees, licenses and other items, as given above, together with this amount received for taxes for the year ending June 30, 1906, is $10,478.14 more than the similar sums received during the previous year.

Considering that the fire insurance companies writing insurance in the United States paid over $300,000,000 in losses last year, occasioned by the San Francisco earthquake and conflagration, this sum being in addition to the usual losses paid by them, it is gratifying to report that the policyholders of this State will not suffer loss on account of this great conflagration. I extended to the companies every courtesy to permit them to ascertain their attitude after the California disaster. However, I required statements from them at short intervals showing their losses. As soon as I could obtain evidence as to their financial condition, and when there was doubt as to solvency, they were notified to secure the policyholders of the State, or withdraw from it. A few of the authorized companies of the State were compelled to withdraw or cease business on account of the excessive losses incurred in the California conflagration. At no time since the department was created has it been better enabled to render service to the people of the State than during the past year, by seeing that the insolvent or doubtful companies were promptly rejected.

This report discloses the fact that the companies have prospered in this State during the past year, having collected in premiums in the State $4,067,767.98, and incurred losses in the sum of $1,685,328.45. This is an increased showing over any previous year. Were it not for their extraordinary losses referred to above the people of this State should demand and expect a reduction in rates. It is to be hoped, however, that in the near future the companies will take into consideration their prosperity within the State and give to the people of it as cheap a rate as has any State in the Union.

Laws Recommended.

The Legislatures of many States for several months have been considering the passage of insurance laws that would reduce fire insurance rates to the people of their respective States. I have not been able to secure a copy of the laws that have recently been enacted or considered by them. Being desirous of receiving that information, I shall not, at this time, attempt to recommend any specific or designated laws, but shall, before the next Legislature convenes, suggest several changes in our laws that, in my judgment, should be made, covering the following subjects:

First—A building and inspection law.
Second—A law regulating State and municipal taxation.
Third—A law preventing over-insurance.
Fourth—A repeal of the valued policy law.

* * *

Fire Marshal Law.

The fire marshal law should also be amended in a few respects. The time being short since it was enacted, a sufficient test has not been given it. However, it has demonstrated that it is a great benefit and assistance to the Commonwealth in obtaining evidence that will convict persons guilty of arson. Already sufficient evidence has been secured in several cases that will eventually convict the guilty persons. The fire marshal's report is most respectfully referred to, which will give a more complete report of the business of this department.

I submit herewith the receipts and expenditures of the fire marshal's office for the six months ending December 31, 1906.

WAITER PUNISHED FOR ASSAULTING MINISTER.

Charles Riddle Hurled Milk Mug At the Rev. W. M. Bruce In Dispute Over Wet Chance.

Because he hurled a milk mug at a minister, the Rev. W. M. Bruce, superintendent of Hope Rescue mission, and hit him, Charles Riddle, employed at the Fourth-avenue Baltimore Dairy Lunch, was fined $25 and bonded for $500 for four months by Judge Edwards in the Police Court yesterday morning. Riddle was charged with disorderly conduct in a warrant sworn to by the Rev. Mr. Bruce. The trouble occurred in the lunchroom last Saturday when the minister asked the clerk to give him some dry change. He had offered a dollar bill in payment for a cup of coffee, and the change was thrown on the counter, where it fell in some spilled milk.

SPECIAL TRAIN

For Kentucky U. C. V. Trip To Richmond.

WILL CARRY LOUISVILLE BAND TO THE REUNION.

SPONSOR, MAIDS AND MATRON OF HONOR NAMED.

GREAT MEETING PLANNED.

Col. Bennett H. Young, commanding the Kentucky division, U. C. V., and Col. W. A. Milton, Adjutant General of the division, have issued a general order calling attention to the reunion to be held May 30 and 31 and June 1, 2 and 3. The Kentucky division will go to Richmond, Va., in a special train. The order names Miss Marion Morgan Mulligan, of Lexington, sponsor for the division; Miss Elizabeth Monroe Buckner, of Hopkinsville, maid of honor; Miss Mary K. Hoge, of Frankfort, special maid of honor, and Mrs. Lilly McClellan Troendle, of Hopkinsville, matron of honor.

The order is as follows:

Headquarters Kentucky Division, U. C. V., Louisville, Ky., May 6, 1907.—[General Order.]—The seventeenth annual reunion of the United Confederate Veteran Association has been fixed for May 30-31, June 1, 2, 3, 1907, to met in the city of Richmond, Va.

Two important and interesting events will occur upon this occasion. First, the dedicating exercises for the monument erected to the memory of President Jefferson Davis, and the unveiling of the statue erected by the people and the State of Virginia to the memory of Gen. J. E. B. Stuart. These two matters of themselves would create a profound interest in the hearts of all Confederates, but when they are associated with a journey to Richmond, the capital of the Confederate States, for the defense of which there was consecrated so much of treasure and so vast a sacrifice of the best blood of Southern manhood, around which gathers such historic and heroic memories, there will necessarily be a numerous pilgrimage of the fast-decreasing representatives of the "Lost Cause."

A large majority of the sons of Kentucky, who so unselfishly went forth from the borders of this Commonwealth to make common cause with the defenders of the rights of the Southland, were descended from Virginia ancestry, and to these a visit to Richmond will partake of a home going which will quicken patriotic impulse and kindle anew the undying love of Kentuckians for Virginia.

As these Confederates shall return to the home of their ancestry, it is both natural and reasonable that they should in every way possible give expression to their devotion to Virginia and their unchanging interest in all that concerns her glory and renown.

Aside from all other reasons the State in which reposes the dust of Jefferson Davis, Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson, A. P. Hill, Stuart, Ashby, together with a vast host of other immortal heroes who struggled so valiantly, but in vain, for the life of the Confederacy, and which is consecrated by the sublime courage, magnificent achievements and marvelous record of the Army of Northern Virginia, arouse and quicken all the highest and noblest impulses of the men who wore the gray.

The Commanding General expresses the earnest hope that Kentucky on this occasion will have such a representation as will be worthy all that surrounds this seventeenth reunion.

* * *

Names Sponsor and Maids.

He has appointed as sponsor for the Kentucky division Miss Marion Morgan Mulligan, of Lexington, Ky., daughter of Judge James H. Mulligan, whose eloquence and genius have shed luster on Kentucky, in whose veins flows the blood of the Morgans, than whom none were braver nor truer.

Miss Elizabeth Monroe Buckner, of Hopkinsville, Ky., has been designated as first maid of honor.

Her connection with the Monroe family, which endured and suffered so much for the Southern people, will give her a warm place in the hearts of Kentucky Confederates.

Miss Mary K. Hoge, of Frankfort, Ky., daughter of Col. Charles H. Hoge, who, as a mere lad, saw the last of the army of Virginia at Appomattox, has been named as special maid of honor.

Mrs. Lilly McClellan Troendle, of Hopkinsville, Ky., whose people, the Sharps and McClellans, rendered splendid service to the cause of Southern liberty, has been named matron of honor.

To these women may safely be committed the task of maintaining the reputation of Kentucky as the home of all that is attractive and resplendent in womanhood.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company has undertaken to provide a special train for the transportation of the Kentucky Confederates to Richmond, which will leave Louisville on the evening of May 28 at 6:30 o'clock. The train will be composed of handsome sleepers and elegant coaches, which are characteristic of this great thoroughfare. It will be under the direct charge of R. E. Parsons, general passenger agent, who will see that all that can be will be done for the convenience and comfort of those who may take the journey.

UNDERPASS CONTRACT

TAKES CITY ATTORNEY A. E. RICHARDS TO CHICAGO.

Returns From Arguing Telephone Company's Injunction Before Federal Court of Appeals.

Judge A. E. Richards, City Attorney, who returned yesterday morning from Cincinnati, where on the day before he argued before the United States Court of Appeals the appeal of the city from Judge Evans' decision granting an injunction to restrain the city from enforcing the ordinance regulating the rates of the Cumberland Telephone Company, left last night for Chicago, where to-day he will confer with the officials of the Illinois Central Railroad Company in regard to the contract for constructing the subway on Oak street, between Thirteenth and Fifteenth. The Illinois Central has already agreed to bear its proportion of the expense, but the contract has not been signed.

The conference to-day will have to do with the time and manner in which the railroad company shall pay its proportion of the expenses. Judge Richards likely will return to Louisville to-night.

When asked yesterday about the telephone case, now in the hands of the United States Court of Appeals, in Cincinnati, Judge Richards said he did not look for a decision until some time in June.

On account of the absence of Mrs. Bischoff, the prosecuting witness, the case of John Bischoff, a motorman of the Louisville Railway Company, and son of Jacob Bischoff, the wife murderer, now confined in the Central Asylum for the Insane at Lakeland, was continued in Magistrate Frank Hoffman's court yesterday morning until 9 o'clock Monday morning. Bischoff is being held on the charge of malicious assault with intent to kill, it being alleged that he brutally assaulted his wife with his fists at their home near Douglas boulevard last Friday.

CLOWN STILL A FACTOR IN BIG CIRCUSES.

"There has been a revolution in clowning," recently said a Barnum & Bailey funmaker. "The time when we could crib our jokes out of the family almanac has gone forever. Now we must be funny without saying anything amusing. A man who wants to make a serious business of clowning must have a standing contract with a tinshop, own a trained pig or a comedy automobile or be prepared to do anything from handling snakes to rivaling the sword swallower. Of course, he doesn't do these things literally. Everything with him is a matter of burlesque. In the days of the Shakespearian clown, everything he said was in rhyme, and his poetic witticisms were the talk of the town. The vogue of the clown was therefore tremendous, and a single one would command, as in the case of Dan Rice, a salary of $500 a week. The big shows have made the speaking clowns impossible. They couldn't be heard and action has taken the place of speech. Instead of one clown there are forty, and while no man can command a salary equal to what Dan Rice received, the combined expense to the show is of course many times greater. Naturally, as the speaking clown fell more and more to the rear, it became a serious question how to amuse the public and introduce those interludes of laughter that seem so essential to an arenic performance—especially to the children. Pantomime pure and simple, as practiced in the Christmas spectacle of Humpty Dumpty, would not do. There was not sufficient variety to it. New make-ups and new costuming were demanded, and the circus clown presently became a vaudeville entertainer, depending entirely upon his appearance and actions to command attention and provoke laughter. That naturally developed into little comedies in which several of the clowns participated, and these presented simultaneously at different points in the rings and on the hippodrome tracks, offered laughable entertainment to the crowd.

"This year we have introduced something new along the same line of development. We call it burlesque clowning. A peculiarity of this kind is that it requires a great deal of paraphernalia."

The comedy element in the Barnum & Bailey circus is said to form a striking contrast to the sensational features of the big show, which will exhibit here Monday, May 13.

Equipment Company Formed.

The American Equipment Company incorporated yesterday with a capitalization of $20,000, divided into $100 shares. The incorporators and their respective holdings are: Charles R. Long, seventy shares; John R. C. Long, thirty shares; Marshall E. Harding, thirty shares. The maximum debt is $10,000.

GENTLE SPRING.

It is within the range of possibility that a connection may after a while be drawn between what some people call "Spring fever" (meaning thereby that sensation of nothing wrong in particular, but that all is not just right) and that very prevalent malady, dyspepsia. At any rate, physicians who have used a prescription composed of ¼ oz. Fluid Extract of Buchu, 1 oz. Bulso Mixture, ¼ oz. Fluid Extract Gentian Compound and 15 ozs. water in treating dyspepsia have found that the medicine is not only wonderfully efficacious in dyspepsia cases, but that it is also an admirable "Spring tonic," and exactly what many people need at this season of the year. Most successful results are said to follow the use of the preparation in doses of a tablespoonful administered three times a day. The prescription, which any good pharmacist can put up, contains nothing in the least degree harmful and would seem to be well worth a trial.

"Business."

Wednesday Evening, May 8.—The New York stock market was very dull and narrow, final quotations showing mixed gains and losses confined to fractions.

Money on call was steady at 2½ to 3 per cent, ruling at 2¾. Time loans were slightly firmer at 3½ to 4½. Sterling exchange was weak.

The Chicago wheat market was easier, the July delivery closing ⅝c lower. Corn was up ⅛c to ¼ c. Oats were a shade lower.

The cotton market was strong on bad weather reports, and after opening steady at an advance of one point to a decline of two points, steadily advanced, closing prices being ten to twenty points higher.

The Chicago cattle market was steady to strong, the hog market steady, and the sheep market strong.

Referring to the fight of the Republican Governor Hughes, of New York, against political machinism, the World, of Roanoke, Virginia, says:

"That appeals to Col. Watterson, who at once nominates him for the presidency, but does not say whether as a Democrat or a Republican. The Governor is a Republican, but not as rabid as some others. It is a pity Col. Watterson did not specify the party of which the Governor is to be the nominee, or whether he proposed to run him against the nominees of both the other parties. Col. Watterson has been in latter years an advocate of Mr. Bryan. Has he given him up, or is he willing to sacrifice him upon the altar of one who has shown what he means by reform, and that it is not a mere empty pretense? The country waits, in much suspense, upon Col. Watterson's next proclamation declaring who shall be its next President."

Here we have a good illustration of the loose way with the average newspaper process of commentation. Speculating upon political futures, the Editor of the Courier-Journal expressed the opinion that Mr. Bryan will be the Democratic nominee for President next year and that, unless Governor Hughes strikes some as yet unseen snag at Albany, he will show up strong for the Republican nomination. In neither instance was any preference indicated; but as the Courier-Journal is a Democrat and not a Republican, and nobody is thinking of Governor Hughes as other than a Republican, all else in the matter quoted shoots wide of the mark. Meanwhile, the Courier-Journal long ago said "Hurrah for Bryan."

The Bill Nye Monument.

Out of the West there comes a tale to the effect that Bill Nye is to be honored with a monument. At the next meeting of the Association of American Press Humorists, in Los Angeles, a campaign for a fund wherewith to raise a shaft to the memory of that much-lamented writer of crude American humor is to be inaugurated. Unquestionably Bill Nye deserves a monument, and who should set afoot the plans for erecting it if not the press humorists?

Bill Nye did not contribute much to literature, but he did contribute lavishly to humor. His audience was mostly masculine—for men like humor and women wit—and not as wide as that of several American humorists more finished, though not funnier than he, but there was that quality in his work that caused the reader to long to know the man, and to grasp him by the hand and tell him how his unpretentious pen poked the risible muscles into frolicsome activity and how his plain tales from the hills over against Leadville and round about Piute Pass warmed the cockles of the heart and improved the digestion. Who that has read those tales—the product of his pen during the days of his earlier literary endeavor and his more pronounced and pinching poverty—would not contribute at least a widow's mite toward the purchase of a block of marble or granite and the chiseling of a legend by which posterity might know that "Bill" did not die as poor in friends as he was poor in purse, and that the humorous sketches that were rescued from the perishing pages of obscure papers for which he toiled at dollar-a-column rates are valued by readers, although very little accrued from them to the estate of Nye?

One of Nye's biographers has explained how he happened to escape the practice of law, to which he had been predestined by his parents after he had proved himself a poor plowboy and a villainously lazy cleaner of fence rows. After having spent a reasonable period in perusing Blackstone and other authors little inclined to view life from the humorist's angle Nye appeared before a judge to stand his examination, and succeeded in establishing the local record for failing to answer the questions customarily expounded to aspirants for the bar. The judge, after making the student understand the degree of his ignorance, told him to return in sixty days and be re-examined, whereupon Nye rose to his feet and solemnly made a motion that, in view of his well-known probity, he should be released upon his own recognizance. Although history is not clear upon the point, it seems probable that the motion was granted and that the defendant was out of His Honor's jurisdiction upon the date fixed for his appearance in court, for about this time he began to supply an obscure newspaper with quaint humor at rates it could afford to pay. It was not until late in life that he began to write copyrighted books and to collect royalties instead of space bills, and his earnings were never proportionate to the value of his output. Beyond question he was sufficiently unique as a man and as a writer to deserve substantial recognition by the craft with which he was identified. It is to be hoped that the press humorists will carry out their present plan of starting a subscription for a monument, and that the public will respond liberally.

Square Pegs In Round Holes.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Star, of Indianapolis, reads us a friendly lecture upon the familiar text of the copybooks and the Standard-speakers, "which are the greater, principles or men?"

Parenthetically we may observe that it is the union of the two—the square peg in the square hole and the round peg in the round hole—which counts.

But let our neighbor speak for himself.

We quote:

"Henry Watterson is undoubtedly correct in his declaration that it is impossible for President Roosevelt to bequeath his personal strength to any other presidential candidate. The brilliant and learned Kentuckian is a profound student of men and it is the personal equation in politics that interests him—the personality of Tilden, the personality of Cleveland, the personality of Roosevelt, the personality of Hughes. If Mr. Watterson is lame at any point it is in the emphasis he places on men, to the neglect of principles. Men get ahead in politics because of their personal qualities; but they also get ahead because of their identification with certain ideas that have gained firm possession of the popular mind. The strength of Abraham Lincoln lay partly in his personality, but also in the fact that he became the embodiment and the exponent of a great national passion for liberty and union."

As a matter of fact, the Courier-Journal has unceasingly believed in moral forces and organized ideas, and trusted very little to personalities. Power over masses of men is an emanation rather of the issue than of the individual. Sometimes, at the critical moment, there appears a dissonance, and, then, down goes the cause; and, sometimes, the man has to grow up to the issue; but, when the two are completely met, something is likely to happen.

We do not need our amiable critic to tell us that Mr. Lincoln grew up to the situation with which he had to deal. At the opportune moment, Mr. Tilden fell before it. So did Mr. Cleveland. As a consequence we see to-day a disunited Democratic party struggling for its existence, although in all essentials Democracy represents the aspirations of a great majority of the people of the United States.

The Star continues;

"The reason why the average man is so strong for Roosevelt is partly because he admires his honesty and courage, but it is also because he feels that the President has taken up and pushed to a realization certain deep-seated popular convictions that the abuses of special privilege by great power in private hands must cease. The average man is for Roosevelt, not solely because it is Roosevelt, but because Roosevelt has sensed and made into action the average man's disapproval of corporation rule and the unfair chance the average man has had with those who enjoyed secret and unfair advantages in the business world."

Granted. But where did Mr. Roosevelt have to go to find his "issues" of opposition to "the abuses of special privilege" and to "corporation rule?" Why right into Mr. Bryan's chicken coop. Only a little while ago Collier's Weekly had a most significant cartoon which represented the President in a snug dovecote set in the leafy branches of a sheltering tree, completely protected against the elements by the feathers he had stolen from Mr. Bryan—the "Anti-Monopoly" feather, the "Railway Regulation" feather, the "Plutocracy" feather, and so on, poor, dear Mr. Bryan clinging to a bare limb below, shivering in the cold, still clutching the "Tariff Reform" feather, and murmuring, "I suppose before long he'll yank this feather, too." The illustration was most apposite. It appealed to universal recognition, and this fetches us to the Star's conclusion.

Again we quote:

"What Mr. Watterson's splendid diagnosis of the situation seems to us to ignore is the fact that the Republican party, in Congress and throughout the land as well as in the White House, has made itself the custodian and exponent of the spirit of industrial liberty of the time just as a generation ago it made itself the custodian and exponent of the spirit of political liberty and union of that time.

"It is not purely a question of Roosevelt and his personal qualities or of Fairbanks, Hughes and Taft and their personal qualities. It is a question of principles that are greater than any man.

"If Mr. Watterson thinks that all there is behind Roosevelt is his personal qualities, he deludes himself as the ardent Democrat is likely to do. The principle of a square deal, the principle of accountability on the part of great private and semi-public interests to the people, so well set out by Mr. M. E. Ingalls—these have become established and on them the Republican platform and ticket, whoever is nominated, will stand in 1908."

Here we take issue with our esteemed contemporary as to the facts. The Republican party has not made itself "the custodian and exponent of the spirit of industrial liberty." Mr. Roosevelt has partly done this, or sought to do it. To that extent he has the approval and the applause of Democrats, and this Democratic support, joined to the support a President having yet two years to serve is generally able to command in his own party, makes a prodigious noise over the country. But, from the Republican point of view, it is illusory and will more and more prove itself illusory to those who rely upon it.

The leopard, we are told, may not change his spots. Just as surely as in the days of African Slavery the old historic Democratic party was the friend of Slavery has the Republican party the last thirty years been the friend of the Money Power and Monopoly. The old Democratic party defended Slavery as a Constitutional right and guarantee. Often the Republican party in defending the Money Power has defended the National Credit. But the Protective Tariff, accepted as Republican gospel, is the father and mother of Monopoly.

So great and accepted a Republican leader as Mr. Blaine declared Trusts and Trustism to be "wholly private matters in character and in kind." Eliminate the manufacturers and the "fat" they exude and half of the Republican party sinks out of sight. Mr. Roosevelt may change front. But can his party reverse its engineries?

The Republicans have owed their triumphs the last ten years not to their own hold upon the people, but to the insufficiency of Democratic leadership. Unite the Democrats upon policies which are not regarded as revolutionary and they would sweep the country. The Democrats have been fatally divided among themselves. Certain Democratic leaders have sought to do too much. Others have dealt in too many cures for all sorts of diseases. What is wanted is stability and a united front.

Mr. Roosevelt may divide his party as Mr. Cleveland divided his party. But he will never make it "the custodian and exponent of industrial liberty," because, with Republicanism, that is to put a square peg in a round hole and a round peg in a square hole. If the Republicans win next year it will be sheer force of organization and stress of good fortune—the good fortune that comes to the well-conditioned and the well-to-do—not from any representative character, or quality, as a party of industrial freedom.

San Francisco's Woes.

San Francisco has certainly realized an Iliad of woes since the fatal day in April, 1906, when the great city of the Golden Gate was shaken to its foundations by an earthquake and scourged with its resultant fires. With a heroism unsurpassed in history its people rallied from the shock, and, aided by the substantial sympathy of two continents, it found itself so nearly rehabilitated in its material reconstruction, on the first anniversary of its disaster, as to give apparent assurance to the world that it was about to enter upon even a greater career than had marked its previous history. Suddenly, however, it was, apparently on the very eve of its new era of prosperity, confronted with the menace of a great danger by the Japanese school incident, but this was happily averted by an international adjustment of the question which seemed to clear the way for a brilliant record in the fields of progress.

It was soon again confronted with another dangerous complication in the shape of municipal discord arising from the exposure of widespread corruption among its corporate authorities, including its Mayor, arraying what had formerly been an apparently homogeneous community into bitter factions and disclosing elements dangerous to the former prospects of a renewed and increased prosperity. The law, however, seemed in a fair way to correct the abuses exposed and to give promise of the triumph of justice in the punishment of the guilty and the purification of an atmosphere murky with municipal corruption.

But again the city has become involved in another dangerous complication which tends to clog its progress toward its rehabilitation and entrance upon that new era of thrift to which its misfortunes and sacrifices seemed to entitle it. Now it finds itself involved in the toils of a great strike by the employes of the street car system, in which blood has already flowed freely. The street car system of San Francisco is controlled and operated by the United Railways Investment Company of San Francisco, of which Patrick Calhoun is president, and it happens that his name has been connected, how truly is not now under consideration, in the charges made against the Mayor and Abe Reuf, of using corrupt means in securing favorable concessions from the city government. The consequence is that the strike is complicated by an increased popular bitterness against the corporation from the connection of the name of its president with the corruption of the municipal leaders. At any time a strike of this kind, which suspends the operation of trolley cars in a large system, is fraught with loss and danger to the community, as the people of any city which has had such experience well know. But, in this case, where the traffic and wage features have such close connection with the question of municipal corruption, which has so nearly paralyzed municipal government, the dangers which environ the city are well calculated to give alarm lest there may ensue a season of disorder not unlike that which characterized the city in its early days when it was involved in the toils of a vigilance committee.

In this connection it may not be amiss to refer to the president of the street car system, who has been brought so prominently into the limelight. Patrick Calhoun is the grandson of John C. Calhoun, of South Carolina, the distinguished Vice President and Senator, and has but recently reached his fifty-first year. Of thorough education, he was engaged successfully in the practice of the law, first in St. Louis, and then in Atlanta until 1896, after having had valuable experience in railroad matters and developed a large executive capacity. He then turned his attention to the consolidation and development of street railway properties. He was actively participant and largely interested in the consolidation of street railways of Pittsburg, Baltimore, St. Louis and San Francisco, being a director in the Philadelphia company, United Railways of Pittsburg, St. Louis Transit Company, United Railways Company of St. Louis, and the Houston Oil Company of Texas. He was prominent in the purchase, through the latter and the Kirby Lumber Company, of some 1,200,000 acres of land in Southeast Texas, which transaction figured largely in the investigation by the Texas Legislature of Senator Bailey's financial connection with various corporations.

It will, therefore, be seen that Mr. Calhoun, upon whom the brunt of the present troubles of San Francisco, so largely rest, is a man of no common caliber, but one who unites to strong personal character and capacity, a business and financial prominence which will serve as important factors in enabling him to meet the serious responsibilities with which he is confronted. That he may do so creditably to himself and for the progress of San Francisco will be the general hope of all who know him and wish for the unfortunate city a happy issue out of all of her afflictions.

Russian Political Strategy.

A supposedly secret convention of Russian Socialists now in session in Sweden and attended by about 300 delegates—including Socialistic members of the Douma—throws light upon some of the workings of Russian politics.

The convention has for its purpose a decision on the policy to be pursued by the party in Parliament. And the question of policy seems to be this: Shall or shall not the Socialists bring about the dissolution of the Douma at any cost? It is conceded that by precipitating a series of turbulent scenes a situation could be forced which would cause the Czar to issue a ukase dispersing the body. Would it be to the political advantage of the Socialists to move the Czar into this action and thus make it appear that he was throttling the people's representatives and exercising further tyranny? Or would it be wiser to let matters take their course? It is an interesting and plainly important problem of policy.

The fact that such a programme is even discussed by the Socialists shows that the politicians of the Douma are not lacking in ingenuity, resourcefulness and an acquaintanceship with the tricks of the trade. There is a considerable element of subtlety in the idea of badgering the Czar and Ministers with drastic demands for the people's cause until they dissolve the Douma and then of pointing to the dissolution as an act of reprehensible absolution.

Says the Gazette of Little Rock:

"We believe Henry Watterson sizes up the situation correctly. If the Democratic national convention should be held tomorrow there would be a whoop and Bryan would be declared the nominee. There is no other candidate on the horizon that is in hearing distance of him. Some of the Eastern Democratic papers have attracted attention by calling for a Southern man as the Democratic candidate for President. But we have always thought this movement was to be explained on the theory that these papers do not love the South more but Bryan less."

The South would not be barred a candidate in case it possessed a man of such conceded distinction and character as to spread out thick from the Penobscot to the Brazos, and from Hampton Roads to Puget Sound. Such a man should belong to the political class and stand in line of party preferment and the succession. He should be a product of the period after the War of Sections, not a survival of that war, and hence, comparatively a young man. It is easy to conceive some splendid scion of South Carolina, or Virginia, or Alabama, or Texas, who did not wear a gray jacket, that would appeal to the enthusiasm of New England and the Great Northwest. But, in fact, there is no such man. If Mr. Bryan can't make the landing, we guess we shall have again to go down in defeat.

One thinker says Roosevelt should have been an actor, and another that he should have been a preacher, but perhaps the gentleman under discussion feels fairly well satisfied with his success in his chosen field of strenuosity.

We learn from the Cleveland Plain Dealer that James Cockrill lost his life "in an encounter in Jackson." Mr. Cockrill's part in that encounter consisted in his standing with his back to the courthouse.

Baltimore is the most progressive city in America. She has inaugurated a war upon mosquitoes while the rest of the world is wondering whether its overcoat will last until warm weather begins.

There is some talk of codifying the unwritten law, and gentlemen in Virginia and Georgia are busy giving illustrations for the benefit of any law maker who may wish to draft a bill.

The Norfolk hotel manager who committed suicide regardless of the Jamestown Exposition was guilty of base ingratitude to Providence.

PUBLISHED RATES

Constitute Valid Contract With Carrier.

SPECIFIC AGREEMENT HELD TO BE UNNECESSARY

WHEN SHIPMENT ORIGINATES IN ANOTHER STATE.

CONGRESS ONLY CAN CONTROL

Frankfort, Ky., May 8.—[Special.]—In upholding a judgment of the Marion Circuit Court in a case of Frank Corcoran against the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company a question of freight rates, in which the court below dismissed the petition of the plaintiff, the Court of Appeals to-day held that the publication by the railroad company of its rates for interstate traffic makes a valid contract with an initial carrier in another State in making up a through rate, and that the State laws and the State Railroad Commission of Kentucky have no authority to regulate any part of such rate, that power being exclusively in Congress.

The opinion of the court was announced by Judge Barker, the whole court sitting and concurring in the decision. The case was presented to the court here in oral argument by H. W. Rives, of Lebanon, for the complainant, and by Thomas B. Harrison, Jr., for the railroad company.

* * *

Rate To Lebanon.

The question was raised by the refusal of appellant Corcoran to pay a through rate of fifty-four cents per 100 pounds on a shipment of granite from Barre, Vt., to Lebanon, Ky. He contended that, the freight rate from Louisville to Lebanon having been fixed by the Kentucky Railroad Commission at eight cents per 100 pounds, the railroad company had no right to charge him at a greater rate on a car shipped that route in coming from Vermont. He complained that of the rate of fifty-four cents the Louisville and Nashville Company would receive twenty-eight cents and the other lines handling the car twenty-six cents.

The defense of the company to the action was that the State could not regulate or establish rates for interstate traffic, and that the through rate was for such traffic. The trial Judge sustained the contention of the railroad company and dismissed the petition. The complainant appealed to the court here.

* * *

Opinion of the Court.

"It will not be disputed that, since the opinion in Gibbons vs. Ogden, by Chief Justice Marshall, the exclusive right of the Congress of the United States to regulate interstate commerce has been settled. Upon this point it is not necessary to cite the many opinions of the Supreme Court of the United States delivered since the great case cited. But the appellant insists that the shipment in question is not interstate commerce, although it originated in Vermont and ended in Kentucky, because, he says, the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company had no agreement with the initial carriers that it would constitute a part of a through line for interstate commerce from Barre, Ver., to Lebanon, Ky. This deduction does not follow. It is not necessary that a contract should be expressed in words to be valid and binding upon all parties concerned. When, in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Statutes, the appellee published its rates for interstate traffic from Louisville to Lebanon, and filed this rate with the Interstate Commerce Commission and the State Railroad Commission, this was notice to all the world that it held itself out as a common carrier of interstate commerce at the published rate; and the initial carrier, in making up the through freight rate, had this published rate before it, and the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company could not thereafter be heard to say that it had not agreed to accept the shipment as interstate commerce at the published rate.

"Let us suppose, instead of the local freight rate from Louisville to Lebanon being eight cents, as fixed by the State Railroad Commission, it had been fixed at $1. Would the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, after holding itself out as a common carrier of interstate commerce at its published rate of twenty-eight cents per hundred pounds, be heard to say after receiving the goods and hauling them to Lebanon, that it would charge, not the published interstate rate of twenty-eight cents, but the local rate of $1 per hundred pounds? We think not. The contract of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company with the initial carriers, to haul the freight in question from Louisville to Lebanon as interstate commerce at the published rate of twenty-eight cents, was made just as valid and binding by what took place as if all the terms of the agreement had been formally written out, signed, sealed and delivered by the contracting parties.

"If this was a proceeding against the Louisville corporation for a violation of the Federal Statute regulating interstate commerce, the facts being precisely the same, the railroad could not successfully defend on the ground that the shipment was interstate commerce so far as it was concerned. This being true, it follows that the State laws and the State Railroad Commission have no authority to regulate the matter, that power being exclusively in Congress. For these reasons the judgment of the Circuit Court dismissing the petition is affirmed."

PRISON DOORS OPEN

TO RECEIVE FRANK BALL FOR REMAINDER OF LIFE.

Court of Appeals Affirms Sentence of Imprisonment For Murder.

Frankfort, Ky., May 8.—[Special.]—Judgment of the Knox Circuit Court finding J. Frank Ball guilty of the murder of Jack Bolen, committed at Middlesboro, Bell county, in October, 1905, and sentencing him to confinement for life in the State penitentiary, was affirmed by the Court of Appeals to-day. The decision of the court was announced in an opinion delivered by Judge Lassing.

The killing of Bolen followed an election quarrel growing out of the defeat of Ball for Sheriff of Bell county. Bolen, a barber at Middlesboro, was against Ball in the contest, and, within a very short time after the election, was found in his shop with a bullet through his head. Ball was arrested. There were no eye witnesses to the killing. He was indicted in the Bell Circuit Court and the case sent on change of venue to Knox county. There the indictment was quashed and a new one returned in which two counts were covered. The first count charged Ball and his brother, C. D. Ball, with conspiracy, and the second charged Frank Ball with the murder. He was found guilty upon trial.

While awaiting decision on an appeal, Frank Ball, then confined for safe-keeping in the Madison county jail, made his escape and fled to the home of his father at Rose Hill, Lee county, Virginia. He surrounded himself with his friends and defied arrest. His father is the Sheriff of Lee county. A posse of Bell county citizens, led by Rice Johnson, Sheriff of Bell, followed him into the neighboring State. In effecting his capture they killed one John Lee, a friend of the Ball family.

The Governor of Virginia made requisition upon Gov. Beckham for the return of Johnson and the members of his posse to that State for trial, but after some correspondence between the Governors of the two States, and a visit paid by Charles McDowell, of Danville, to Richmond, as the representative of of the Governor of Kentucky in the matter, the Governor of that State withdrew his requisition and the Sheriff and his men escaped trial on the charge made against them. Ball was returned to this State, and will now be brought to the penitentiary here to begin service of his sentence.

The court to-day, Commissioner Carroll writing, upheld judgment of the Jefferson Chancery Court, first division, in a case of H. W. Ferguson and others against Belle Combs Worrall. The action was by the appellants for the recovery of certain sums claimed to be due in the building of a division wall between property in Louisville. The court below held against the plaintiffs.

WARNING SENT TO THREE TOBACCO PLANTERS.

Hopkinsville, Ky., May 8.—Fred Harned, Edgar Renshaw and George Crabtree, three non-association farmers living within three miles of Hopkinsville, on the Clarksville pike, received a joint note of warning deposited in Harned's mail box telling them that unless they joined the association they could not raise any tobacco this year. The note was written on a leaf torn from a note book, and signed "night riders."

Let Us Hope So.

[Omaha World-Herald.]

Out of all the tumult of words evoked by the bitter factional fight that is rending the Republican party arises the still small voice of Henry Watterson, and it speaks these inspired words:

"The newspapers and politicians of a certain brand are so busy manufacturing a Republican President in succession to Mr. Roosevelt that they lose sight altogether of a possible Democratic President. Man proposes, God disposes. In American politics, hardly less than in French ethics, the unexpected often comes to pass. Stranger things have happened than Mr. Bryan in 1909."

Under the circumstances it is perhaps not strange that attention should so largely be centered on the coming Republican convention. The outcome of that convention is shrouded in uncertainty. No man can say what candidate will be nominated or what faction will write the platform.

The situation in the Democratic camp is far different. The Democratic party, for the first time in many years, is not torn by contending factions. There is not the slightest question that Mr. Bryan can have the nomination if he wants it and that he and those who believe with him will write the platform. Those who, calling themselves Democrats, oppose Mr. Bryan and his policies are so few and so inconsequential that they count for nothing, and attract little attention. So hard pressed is the Bryan opposition that even the harmless enmity of the good old Dr. George L. Miller, of Omaha, is played up by the plutocratic press as a matter of interest and moment when the worthy doctor reaches New York!

The Democratic party is harmonious as to candidate and platform. It stands to-day where it stood in both of Mr. Bryan's previous campaignes. Its policies have been vindicated and popularized; its leader has won the regard and admiration of all sections of the country and all classes of people. The corporate interests that were able to defeat him in 1896 and 1900 by making dupes of the people no longer can stir popular fears and passions by denouncing him as "anarchist" and "demagogue."

The Democratic party will enter the next campaign a compact and enthusiastic body. Its principles will be popular and its candidate trusted. It will no longer be possible to defeat it by misrepresentation and bogy-man devices. Truly "stranger things have happened than Mr. Bryan in 1909."

The Third Term Spook.

[Savannah News.]

The other day, in New York, John W. Gates, known in and out of Wall street on account of his great wealth and daring speculation, was asked whether he thought Mr. Roosevelt would be a candidate for a third term. "It is a hundred to one he will," he answered emphatically. "It's the surest thing, you know. He told me that he wouldn't accept another nomination, but I told him he would have to." There are a great many careful observers who hold the same opinion in regard to the matter that Mr. Gates does.

Henry Watterson said last Friday, that he had no doubt that it is the purpose of the President to stand by his declaration that he wouldn't be a candidate in 1908. He quoted what the President said to a number of journalists last winter as the foundation of his belief. The President said on that occasion, "I tell you now, upon my honor, that if the next National Republican Convention nominates me and adjourns, it will have to reassemble, because I will not accept the nomination." That is very explicit.

But why is it that the Republicans do not believe the President is sincere? That is an interesting question. Is it because he is so inconsistent? Do they know him better than he knows himself? Some of them appear to think so.

Music and the Drama.

MRS. FISKE and the Manhattan company open their engagement at the Mary Anderson this evening, presenting the new play "The New York Idea," that has created a sensation since its first production. As has been previously told, "The New York Idea" deals with the question of divorce, and shows it not only as a burning issue in the life of the American people, but uses the theme for the building of a play of unusual dramatic strength and novel, interesting situations and lines.

Mrs. Fiske, in the central figure of the play, is said to have one of the most congenial and effective characters of her career. It is said to be a part that fits her with the nicety of a glove, and those who know this splendid artist are well prepared for a genuine theatrical treat in her performance. Of course Mrs. Fiske will receive strong support when it is known that such people as John Mason, George Arliss, Marion Lea and others well known are in the cast.

The engagement of "The New York Idea" at the Mary Anderson is for the remainder of the week, with Saturday matinee.

* * *

Manager John T. Macauley is daily in receipt of checks and money orders for seats for the engagement of "Peter Pan," in which Maude Adams will appear at his playhouse for four performances beginning Thursday evening, May 16. The announcement has been made by Mr. Macauley that the order for seats, when accompanied by check or money order, will be filed as they come and given preference according to the dates on which they are received.

"Peter Pan" in some respects will perhaps be the most pretentious offering of the season at Macauley's. Experts will start to work to-day to preparing the stage for this engagement. Traps must be installed, special scenery and other adjuncts that canot be carried must be built and put in place and wire and cables, etc., must be installed for the aerial features. It is perhaps true also that no attraction at this theater during the entire season has aroused such great interest in advance as has the engagement of Miss Adams.

* * *

Because of his desire to have the scenery of his productions always in the prime of condition, Henry B. Harris has engaged a special scenic artist to travel continually from city to city in which his productions are being offered, and to keep all scenery looking new and fresh.

It is not unusual that a play is offered in large cities, often with well-known stars, the settings of which look time-worn and weatherbeaten, and happening, as it sometimes does, that these sets may represent the libraries or drawing-rooms of wealthy men, or the courts of kings, they often present a sorry sight.

The sincere desire to give to the one-night stand, as to the big city, a production fitting the dignity of a prominent manager, has induced Mr. Harris to keep a man constantly at work upon the productions of his traveling companies—a small expense which will no doubt bring about eventually a big return.

ON THE FUNNY BONE.

An Old Story.

Affinity! Poor guileless dove,
That won her heart.
To get her eager, childish love
Took little art.
He swore that she alone could know
And comprehend.
Of course the girl was glad to go
With such a friend.

Of course she wandered back in shame,
Downcast and ill.
The end has ever been the same,
And always will.
Affinity! That was the theme
On which he played.
To her it was a tender dream.
Poor little maid!

CENTURY MARK

Reached To-day By David Detrick, of Indiana.

BIG FAMILY REUNION TO CELEBRATE GREAT EVENT.

TWO NEW ALBANY WELLS CONDEMNED AS UNSANITARY.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH ACTS

At Elizabeth, Harrison county, sixteen miles southwest of New Albany, David Detrick, the oldest man in that county and probably in Southern Indiana, will celebrate to-day, at his home at that place, the one hundredth anniversary of his birth. A big family reunion will be held, and neighbors for miles around will assemble at the old homestead to congratulate the centenarian on his having rounded out the one hundred years of life. He attains this great age in fairly good health. Nearly twenty years ago, when over eighty years old, his "second eyesight" came to him, and since that time he has been able to read the finest printed matter without the aid of glasses.

He was born in Virginia, his father and grandfather having been soldiers of the Revolutionary War. The family came West in the early years of the last century, when Mr. Detrick was only two or three years old, and settled on the high lands of Southern Indiana, when the Indians had possession of a great part of Indiana territory. He has lived during all these years on a farm near Elizabeth. He attributes his long life to the fact that he has never indulged in excesses of any kind.

Mr. Detrick came of a long-lived family, and his brother, Philip Detrick, died at the age of 105 years, under peculiar circumstances. He had ridden to Corydon, a distance of ten miles, in the fall of the year, to pay his taxes. Returning home at nightfall and after he had eaten his evening meal, he sat in front of the old-fashioned fireplace smoking his pipe. When bedtime came the old man was sitting upright in his chair with his pipe in his fingers, and when approached by his daughter, who supposed him to be asleep, he was found to be dead.

David Detrick has one child, Mrs. Ellen Eurton, of New Albany; five grandchildren, among whom are Charles and Thos. Eurton, of New Albany, and six great-grandchildren. His aged wife died seventeen years ago. For more than eighty years he has been a member of the Methodist church.

TWO WELLS CONDEMNED.

State Board of Health Finds Water Unfit For Use.

The State Board of Health of Indiana has analyzed water from two wells in New Albany, one at State and Ealy streets, and one at East Ninth and Elm, and found it to be unfit for drinking or domestic purposes. They were condemned and ordered permanently abandoned. It was shown by the analysis that they contained typhoid germs. A report was also made on the Ohio river water, and the analysis shows that in order to make it suitable for drinking or household use it should be boiled and filtered. The many cases of typhoid fever in New Albany during the last few months is attributed to the use of impure and unwholesome water.

These reports were accepted by the Board of Public Works, and some action will be taken by that body. The water supply of New Albany is drawn entirely from shallow wells or the Ohio river. It is understood that the water from other wells will be analyzed, and it is possible that many more will be condemned.

Their Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. John Losson, greatly esteemed residents of New Albany, will celebrate, May 21, at their home on West Market street, in that city, their golden wedding anniversary. On that date a reception will be given to their friends at their home from 3 to 8 o'clock p. m. They were married in New Albany, and have lived there continuously since, nearly all of the half century having been passed in the house at West First and Market streets. Mr. Losson was born in Lubeln, France, August 9, 1831, while Mrs. Losson, formerly Miss Barbara Richards, a sister of former Mayor John Richards, was born in New Albany, July 27, 1840, her father, a native of France, having been the son of one of Napoleon's Imperial Guards. Mr. and Mrs. Losson have three children, Mrs. Nicholas Stein, Mrs. Edward Hartley and Mrs. Nicholas Bettinger, and seven grandchildren.

Unclean Street Complained Of.

At the meeting of the Board of Health in New Albany yesterday, Dr. F. A. Mitchell, a member of the City Board of Health, on the part of that body, condemned West Main street, from First to Tenth, in that city, as being in an unsanitary condition, and demands that steps be taken at once to remedy it. He declared that the condition of the street was such that if it were not cleaned at once more than one hundred deaths would result from typhoid and malarial fever. At present, on account of the street-improvement muddle, which arose nearly a year ago, there is no possibility of its being improved, as an injunction suit is now pending in the courts.

STAY IN WORKHOUSE

GIVEN THE REV. A. J. PITTMAN FOR FRIGHTENING WIFE.

Trial In Police Court Yesterday Morning—Mrs. Pittman Chief Witness For Prosecution.

Last Friday the Rev. A. J. Pittman, formerly a student in the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, so frightened his wife that she jumped from a window in their apartments, on the second floor of 774 Fifth street, to the ground below, a distance of twenty feet, sprained her left ankle and received other injuries. Yesterday the young minister was tried in the Police Court, and Judge Edwards decided that a thirty days' stay in the workhouse would give the divinity student ample time for meditation.

Pittman is twenty-one years of age. He and Mrs. Pittman were married about three months ago at Piedmont, Mo., where the two met during a revival conducted by the young minister. Their married life has not been all roses, and after Mrs. Pittman reported her husband's conduct to Dr. E. Y. Mullins, president of the seminary, he was asked to leave the school. That was about three weeks ago, and since that time Mrs. Pittman's life has been a very unhappy one. On the stand yesterday morning she said that she jumped from the window because she was afraid that her husband would kill her.

Pittman alleged that the trouble between himself and Mrs. Pittman started over money matters. He had been a student at the Southern Baptist Seminary for about six months, but for some time he has been a licensed minister. Mrs. Pittman has brought suit for partial divorce.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN CONVENTION NAMES WILLIAM H. TAFT TO HEAD PARTY'S TICKET

Manual High School Seniors Also Select Former Gov. Bradley, of Kentucky, His Running Mate.

William H. Taft, of Ohio, was nominated for President of the United States and former Gov. W. O. Bradley, of Kentucky, was nominated for Vice President by the senior class of the Manual Training High School at their National Republican Convention, held yesterady in the school chapel. Together with notification of his nomination the gavel used by Chairman Becker will be sent to Secretary Taft, and the seniors are planning to call on ex-Gov. Bradley at his home and notify him of his selection as candidate for Vice President.

The convention was the idea of Prof. G. T. Ragsdale, who has instructed the seniors in civics, and was held for the purpose of giving the students a better idea of the working of a national convention and of America's system of government. In every way the convention was a great success, and Prof. Ragsdale was more than pleased. He said that in the play convention the boys had brought out every important feature that has been a factor in the real conventions, and that the experience to the seniors was most valuable.

The selection of Taft for the presidency came on the second ballot, while that of Gov. Bradley for Vice President was on the first. The name of Taft was presented by Delegate Gernet, of Ohio, and that of Bradley by Delegate Macdonald, of Tennessee. All of the nominating speeches had been prepared with great care, and both in them and in debate the Manual seniors proved to be excellent orators.

Before the nominations for President were in order the convention was organized with Frank Borsneck as temporary chairman, and later he was succeeded by Philip Becker. Committees on Credentials, Organization, Rules, etc., were appointed and reported, the reports in most instances calling forth heated debate.

The success of yesterday's convention makes it a certainty that the gathering will be an annual affair. Next year it is proposed to hold the convention under the rules governing the Democratic party. The juniors took much interest in the first of the national conventions yesterday, and are most anxious that the convention become an annual affair.

STATE CONVENTION

SUGGESTED FOR CONSIDERATION OF IMMIGRATION QUESTION.

Board of Trade Directors Appoint Committee To Determine On Advisability of Such Meeting.

The propriety of taking steps toward the calling of a State Immigration Convention was discussed at length yesterday by the directors of the Board of Trade at the regular meeting. It was pointed out that Kentucky did not receive its share of desirable immigrants, and statistics were submitted which showed that the State did not receive its share during last year. It is the practice of some of the Northwestern States to send representatives to New York to meet immigrants upon their arrival, and in some cases free transportation is furnished them, and other inducements offered them to settle in certain sections of the country.

The matter of obtaining more desirable immigrants for Kentucky has been under consideration of the Board of Trade's Immigration Committee for some months, and various ways have been suggested to bring this about. The committee is as follows: F. William Vogt, chairman; Joseph McWilliams, Fred Gernert, Paul C. Barth, Theodore Ahrens, E. J. McDermott and W. W. Hite.

At the end of the discussion yesterday the matter was again referred to the committee for it to decide as to the advisability of calling a State convention. If the decision is a favorable one, the committee is instructed to submit details of the plan of the work to the directors at their next meeting.

NO FINNEGAN RELATIVES FOUND BY LOCAL POLICE.

No one has reported to Chief of Police Gunther any information that will lead to the locating of relatives of Michael Finnegan, said to be a Louisville man, who was shot and killed at Virden, Ind., by Mrs. Margaret Mutzburg, of that place, because of alleged improper advances on the part of Finnegan. Word of the man's death was received by Chief Gunther yesterday morning, and immediately a search for relatives of the man was begun.

Finnegan was about forty-five years of age, was five feet ten or eleven inches tall. His hair was sandy, mixed with gray, and his mustache was of the same color. He had been in Virden for about three years and was a superintendent of a mine. He is said to have gone to Virden from this city.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. REGAN TO-MORROW.

The funeral services of Mrs. Margaret Mary Regan, widow of Michael Regan, for many years a Louisville undertaker, will be held at 8:30 o'clock to-morrow morning at the residence of her son, John M. Regan, 1815 Brook street, and at 9 o'clock at St. Louis Bertrand's church. The burial will be in St. Louis cemetery.

Mrs. Regan died of the infirmities of age Tuesday afternoon. She was eighty-one years of age, and was a native of Ireland, though she made her residence in Louisville for over half a century. Her husband died several years ago. She is survived by a son, John M. Regan, with whom she had lived since the death of her husband.

ASCENSION DAY SERVICES CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL.

Ascension day services will be held at Christ Church Cathedral at 10:30 o'clock this morning. At that hour holy communion will be celebrated, and will be followed by a sermon by the Rt. Rev. Charles E. Woodcock.

PIG PENS UNDER BAN.

HEALTH OFFICER OBJECTS EVEN TO MOST APPROVED ONES.

Louisville, He Says, Is Becoming Too Much of a Metropolis To Tolerate Them—Cow Barns Bad Enough.

The plan of Fred Kinzler to erect an $800 pig pen near his home on Story avenue, east of Adams street, is not approved by Dr. M. K. Allen, Health Officer. Dr. Allen takes the stand that no pig pens should be allowed within the city limits, no matter how sanitary they may be. He contends that it is almost impossible to keep a pig pen sanitary, and that pig pens have no place except in the country. He likely will recommend that an ordinance be passed prohibiting the tolerating of pig pens within the city limits in the future, and also containing a clause concerning the keeping of cows in the city.

"No person living within the city limits should be allowed to keep more than two cows," said Dr. Allen yesterday, "and all cow barns should be 300 feet removed from any residence. Pig pens should not be tolerated under any circumstances. They have such ordinances in effect in New York and other cities, and I do not see why we should not have the same thing here. Louisville is becoming too metropolitan for us longer to tolerate pig pens, even if they do cost $800. I don't think the Building Inspector should grant permits for the building of pig pens within the corporate limits of the city."

ADDITION TO GIVE MORE ROOM FOR "REFUGE BOYS."

An addition to cost $14,000 is to be made to the Louisville Industrial School. The permit was taken out yesterday and work on the addition will be started immediately. It is to be put up for the convenience of the colored boys at the institution, and will be built in the rear of the present building. It will be a two-story brick structure and will cover ground 39x89½ feet.

The basement of the proposed addition will be used for laundry purposes and the first floor will be used as a workroom. The second floor will be used as a dormitory.

The Lanahan Hardwood Flooring Company yesterday took out a permit for the erecting of a frame building, 60x90 feet, on the east side of Twelfth street, 190 feet south of Magnolia avenue, where hardwood flooring will be manufactured. The building will cost $2,300.

Until recently the Lanahan Hardwood Flooring Company had its headquarters at Lebanon, and it is a new industry for Louisville.

WANT GENERAL HEARING ON SMOKE CONSUMER BILL.

For the purpose of considering the smoke-consumer ordinance introduced two weks ago in the upper board of the General Council by Alderman Tyler, a meeting of the Revision Committee will be held at the City Hall this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The members of the committee are anxious that all who may have anything to suggest in connection with the ordinance appear before them at the meeting.

HIS SWEETHEART

Worried About Incarceration of Joseph Whitelaw.

MAN'S SISTER WRITES OF FEAR FOR CONTINUED SANITY.

INDIANAPOLIS MAN ARRESTED ON COMPLAINT OF WIFE.

JAMES SMYSER CONVICTED.

Joseph F. Whitelaw, an inmate of the Indiana Reformatory who arrived a few days ago from Columbus, where he was convicted of petit larceny and given an indeterminate sentence of from one to eight years, is the subject of inquiry through a letter written by his sister, whose home is at Oak Park, Chicago. She desires information, not so much on ccount of herself, as for Miss Perrie L. Williams, Whitelaw's sweetheart. In her letter Miss Whitelaw asks for a full history of the trouble and says that it is for the sake of the mind if not the life of her brother's sweetheart that she writes.

Whitelaw is a graduate of one of the Chicago universities and an unusually bright young man, of an unsettled disposition, he did not take advantage of his opportunities and was inclined to rove about the country. Being possessed of a magnificent figure and fine voice, he joined the Dolly Dimples Musical Comedy Company and while the organization was playing an engagement at Columbus Whitelaw roomed at the home of James Henry, where he was charged with stealing a gold watch and six rings, the loss being discovered after the company had left. Whitelaw was followed to Shelbyville, Ind., and arrested.

When taken into court he was jolly and unconcerned. At the jail he sang songs for the edification of young women who had called to see him, and after sentence was passed took it as a joke. He told those about him that he would start a singing school at the Indiana Reformatory in Jeffersonville when he arrived there, but after becoming an inmate of the institution he was notified that when his services were required in the singing line he would be so informed.

ON COMPLAINT OF WIFE.

Charles Moore, of Indianapolis, Is Placed Under Arrest.

Charles Moore, whose home is at 1629 Draper street, Indianapolis, was arrested by Capt. Clegg in Jeffersonville last evening on complaint of Mrs. Pearl Moore, wife of the accused, who alleges her husband followed her to Jeffersonville and threatened to kill her. A revolver was found in Moore's possession and the charge of carrying a concealed deadly weapon was slated against the prisoner.

Mrs. Moore is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rose, who live on Indiana avenue, near Front street, in Jeffersonville, and she is not yet eighteen years old. Moore, who is not twenty, says they were married in Indianapolis in December, 1905. On the way to jail he told Capt. Clegg that he was still carrying a bullet under the skin of his back that he fired into his body last October in an attempt to kill himself on account of his wife. He said his wife did not like the idea of living with his parents and left home Tuesday, saying whenever he could make enough money to live by themselves she would return. She then came to Jeffersonville.

To Capt. Clegg Moore said he guessed he was crazy. He is a painter by trade. Moore asked that his parents be notified of the trouble he was in and said they would be in Jeffersonville by the time he was arraigned for trial this morning. Capt. Clegg communicated with the Indianapolis police last night and asked them to notify Moore's relatives of his arrest.

NEGRO MURDERER GETS LIFE.

Convicted of Murder of David Brown, Also Colored.

James Smyser, colored, who was making his home in Louisville at the time he committed the crime, was convicted of murder in the Clark Circuit Court at Jeffersonville yesterday afternoon and given a sentence of life imprisonment. The jury was out four hours before a verdict was reached, and it is understood part of the panel insisted that the punishment should be death. Smyser was accused of killing David Brown, also colored, and was the only witness in his own behalf. He swore Brown struck him before he thrust the blade of a long butcher knife into his heart.

The killing occurred on Sunday, February 17. Smyser went from Louisville on an interurban car with a large bottle of whisky and was drunk when he started for Indiana. In Jeffersonville, according to his own evidence, he purchased several bottles of beer and more whisky. After arming himself with a butcher knife he went to the home of Kate Lewis, sister of his wife, and found the latter listening to Brown read from a "funny" paper. Brown and the woman went to the former's home and Smyser followed. While Brown was sitting in a chair Smyser drew the knife and with a downward stroke sent the blade into the victim's heart.

INDIANA'S MILITARY RECORD.

Rolls and Official Documents Widely Scattered Over State.

Oran Perry, Adjutant General of Indiana, has written letters to Jeffersonville persons interested in military affairs in which he calls attention to the fact that the last Legislature appropriated $5,000 for the proper classification and filing of all rolls, reports and correspondence connected with the military history of the State. He says many of the rolls and reports pertaining to the Civil War are missing from the files of his office. It is asserted that not a muster-in or muster-out roll of the Mexican War is in possession of his department and part of the rolls of the Indiana Legion are gone.

The letter states that in the basement of the Statehouse a cartload of correspondence and reports which have never been briefed or filed are going to waste. He says it is the intention of his department to rescue this valuable military history of the State from destruction and place it in a condition for ready reference. The co-operation of the citizens of the State is asked, and it is his desire that all persons who have any rolls, reports or letters bearing on the subject forward them to him to be properly classified and copied. He says the request applies to all conflicts from the Revolution down to the Spanish-American War so far as Indiana is concerned.

For Reservation Custodian.

The Indiana State Board of Forestry has let the contract for completing the administration building and custodian's home at the reservation near Henryville, nineteen miles north of Jeffersonville, to L. D. Townsend & Co., of Blue Lick, the amount to be paid being $1,200, which was appropriated by the last Indiana Legislature. The work is to be completed by September 1. The building is to be the official home of the reservation officers and apartments will be set apart in which all of the tools and implements used on the grounds will be stored when not needed. The board will pay an official visit to the reservation on June 15, and it is likely a number of persons from Jeffersonville will go out to the grounds.

WEST BADEN SPRINGS SOLD AT AUCTION.

Property Purchased By Present Occupant Under Decree of Partition.

West Baden, Ind., May 8.—[Special.] W. H. Talbott, Commissioner appointed at the April term of the Circuit Court of this county, in partition proceedings brought by the West Baden Springs Company against Dr. John L. Howard and Anna M. Howard, his wife, to terminate the partnership between the Springs Company and the Howards, to-day at public sale disposed of the property jointly owned by them. L. W. Sinclair, present owner of the West Baden Springs, was the purchaser, at the sum of $16,000.

On this property is located the famous bored mineral water well sunk by Dr. J. L. Howard, and which was said to have seriously injured the flow of the mineral springs at French Lick, so much so that suit was brought by the French Lick Springs Company and a restraining order secured against Dr. Howard to prevent him pumping the water from this well.

Capt. John C. Howard was associated with his son, Dr. J. L. Howard, in the improvement of this property, which is a valuable one, and will probably be used for sanitarium purposes in the future and will be known as "Round Top."

MEMORY FAULTY, BUT IS FINED JUST THE SAME.

He did not remember that he had terrified a carload of people at Seventh and Walnut streets shortly before midnight Tuesday by wielding a switch iron and threatening to take their lives, but when John Fitzhugh was presented in the Police Court yesterday morning by Patrolmen Miller and Pulford he was fined just the same, Judge Edwards fixing his punishment at $20 and $500 bond for four months. Fitzhugh, it was testified, first attempted to strike the motorman of the car, William Davis, but later entered the car and frightened the passengers so that most of them fled. He remembered nothing of his escapade, he said.

PHIL FINCH WINS THE FEATURE EVENT

Williams' Gelding Shows He Has Returned To His Old-Time Form At the Downs.

RALBERT FINISHES IN SECOND PLACE.

Heavy Downpour of Rain Seriously Interferes With Sport.

FORM PLAYERS HAVE BAD DAY.

QUAGGA, MERRIFIELD, DEMO, MOQUETTE AND REBOUNDER WIN AT LONG PRICES.

CLARK HANDICAP WEIGHTS.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

First Race—J. P. Mayberry, Potter, Alcor.
Second Race — Ada O. Walker, Extry, Merry Blue.
Third Race — Knight of Ivanhoe, Tom Gilroy, Mrs. Annie.
Fourth Race—The Englishman, Fleming, Morales.
Fifth Race—J. Ed Grillo, Magic, Fred Priesmeyer.
Sixth Race—Clifton Forge, Matador, Excitement.
Two Best Bets—The Englishman, Clifton Forge.

PHIL FINCH is himself again. The old campaigner demonstrated this fact yesterday afternoon when he won the feature event at Churchill Downs in the easiest sort of fashion from a good field.

The aged son of Goldfinch was injured last winter at New Orleans, and for a time it was thought he would never go to the races again, but "Wink" Williams, his youthful owner and trainer, handled him with the greatest care, and yesterday he was rewarded by seeing Phil Finch perform in a manner that indicates he will be a dangerous horse in the big handicaps during the coming summer in any sort of thoroughbred company.

"Wink" Williams, his father, Capt. Jim Williams, the turfman-politician, and a number of their friends cleaned up handsomely on the victory of Phil Finch, getting from 2 to 2½ to 1 for their money. Capt. Williams alone wagered $1,500 on the big gelding. When he was asked about this, he replied:

"Well, you see, I shipped a couple of carloads of hogs to Louisville this morning and sold them for a good price. Phil Finch looked pretty good to me, and I invested the money I received for the hogs on his chances. I am willing to admit that the deal all the way shows that the price of hogs is going up."

A heavy downpour of rain, which almost amounted to a cloudburst, fell shortly after noon, and the rain continued for several hours. As a consequence, the track was soaked with water before the first race was run, and this seriously interfered with the form players. In fact, all the races except that in which Phil Finch was the victor were won by long-priced horses, and those who figure form were utterly at sea. Quagga, Merrifield, Demo, Moquette and Rebounder gave the talent a series of shocks, from which it will take a long time to recover.

In spite of the heavy rain, a crowd of some 2,000 people attended the races, and the betting was lively throughout the afternoon. As all the favorites were defeated, the bookmakers got most of the loose change that was lying about.

* * *

Quagga Wins In Drive.

Quagga won the first race in a spirited drive in the stretch from Della Thorpe. Rain was falling in sheets when the field went to the post, and the start was also delayed by the bad acting of Kaiserhof. Quagga was the first to get away when the barrier went up, but dropped back to the extreme rear. When the field was plowing through the mire in the back stretch he started to move up again, and gradually caught the tiring leaders in the run home, securing the verdict by a neck. Della Thorpe and Zick Abrams took turns in making the running, the latter tiring slightly in the final drive. Swain on Della Thorpe was overconfident, and might have won if he had gone about his business.

* * *

Another Long Shot First.

In the second race Cheswardine was made the choice at 8 to 5, but the Friar colt was off poorly. Merrifield, which was quoted at 9 to 1, got the decision, two lengths in front of Gremse. J. Lee rode the winner; was off in a forward position and rushed into a commanding lead, and had the foot of his party throughout the journey. Gremse was in close pursuit of the leader, but was unable to better his position, and Gaugel, who had the mount, had all he could do to hold on to the place. Margaret Randolph threatened to be a factor, but the show was the best she could get.

* * *

Refined a Disappointment.

Demo took the third race in easy fashion from Marmorean and Refined. The McCarren gelding just reveled in the going, and had no trouble in disposing of his field and landing the purse. He was a rank outsider in the betting. As good as 20 to 1 was laid against his chances. G. Swain, on Marmorean, made a desperate effort, and succeeded in getting to the front on entering the stretch, but was able to hold the lead for a short time only, when the challenge of the winner proved too much for him. Refined, the heavily played favorite, was a bitter disappointment for the regulars. He evidently did not like the sloppy going, but he held the balance of the field safe for third money.

Phil Finch Scores Easily.

The fourth race was the feature offering on the card. The return of Phil Finch to the races made this event a good betting proposition, the son of Goldfinch going to the post at 2 to 1, while Ralbert was the choice at 8 to 5. Phil Finch is in grand shape just now, but the public did not think that he was ready, and it wagered little on him. The running of the race showed that the public was badly mistaken. When the numbers went up Phil Finch was first, a length in front of Ralbert. Warren had the leg up, and kept his charge in easy striking distance of the leader, and when he let out a wrap in the last sixteenth he moved to the front, winning handily. Ralbert forced the pace all the way, and had nothing left when called upon.

* * *

Talent Is Upset Again.

The fifth race was another upset for the talent when Moquette was returned the winner at 6 to 1. Ida May, the favorite, was sharply cut off right after the start. This ruined whatever chances she had, and she was never in the running after that. Geneva S. showed a burst of speed, and went to the front, but could not stall off the winner, which was coming up on the outside. Tim Kelly easily held the others safe, the nearest horse being four lengths away.

* * *

Rebounder All the Way.

Rebounder was returned a winner in the final race over the mile and one-eighth route. He was off winging and was never headed, coming under the wire five lengths in advance of Bellindian. Tinker was the medium of a good-sized plunge. Opening at 7 to 5, she was backed down to a top-heavy odds-on favorite at 7 to 10, but the filly did not justify the confidence placed in her. She evidently did not relish the distance, and had to be urged to beat Belden a head for third place. Bellindian, in second place at the rise of the barrier, maintained that position to the end.

Handicap On For To-day.

Another good card of six races is down for decision at the Downs to-day. Large fields will face the starter in all but the fourth race, which is the feature offering. In this event such good runners as Fleming, Morales and Barnsdale are carded to start, and should result in a good contest. Indexed entries follow:

CHAT OF THE COURSE.

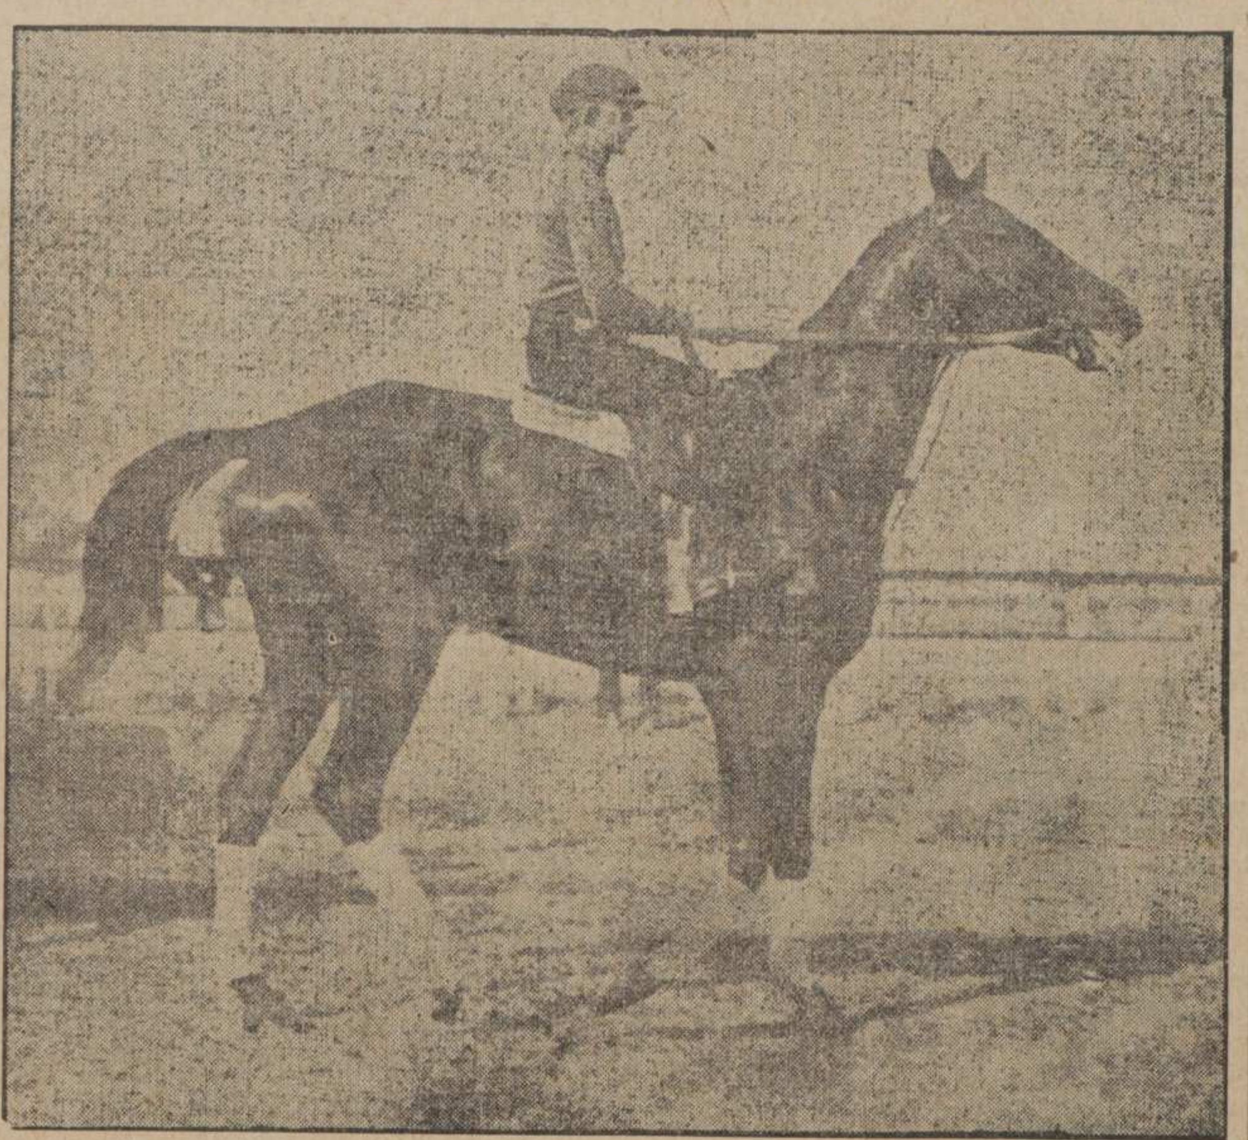

Secretary Lyman Davis yesterday afternoon announced the weights for the Clark Handicap, that will be decided at the Downs next Saturday. This fixture has an added value of $1,500, which is a snug sum for a winning owner to take down. E. Corrigan has several likely looking entries in this event. Alma Dufour is in with 112 pounds. She is a mare of class and will no doubt figure prominently in this race.

John L. Inglis, the speed marvel from the Fizer string, is slated to carry top weight, 118 pounds, while Pink Star, the Kentucky Derby winner, is in with 108 pounds up.

Col. Jim Douglas should also give a good account of himself next Saturday. He has been given a careful "prep," and has made good time in his workouts. The conditions of the race and the weights assigned to the eligibles are as follows:

The Clark Handicap—For three-year-olds and upward; $10 to accompany the nomination; $50 additional to start; $1,500 added, of which $300 to second and $150 to third. Weights to be announced three days prior to the day of the race. Winners of a race, other than a selling purse after weights are posted, to carry five pounds extra. Closed February 1, 1907, with fifty-three nominations. One and one-sixteenth miles:

Quagga, at home in the going, broke from the outside of the field; was compelled to go the longest way around; caught Della Thorpe in the closing strides and outgamed her at the finish. The latter, through overconfidence of her rider, lost the race. Zick Abrams was a keen contender all the way. Little Lighter will do to remember.

1980—SECOND RACE—Four furlongs; purse $400; for two-year-olds; selling. Start fair. Won easily; place driving. Winner, J. C. Milam & Co.'s ch. g., by Don d'Oro—Budget of Fun; trained by J. C. Milam. Value to winner, $300. Fractional time: :12 2-5, :24 2-5, :36 3-5, :50.

Phil Finch ran as if he outclassed his field; laid behind Ralbert until the turn for home, when called on moved up with a rush, raced Ralbert into defeat and won going away. Ralbert had most early speed; tired badly in the run home. Beau Brummel was always in keen contention.

Rebounder was best in the going; went to the front at the start and won with plenty in reserve. Bellindian was closest in pursuit, followed the pace closely and was much the best of the others. Tinker could never improve her position. Belden ran his race.

Edward Corrigan yesterday sold to B. H. Reed a three-year-old filly by Scintillant II.—Ray B.; a two-year-old colt by Ormicant—Nata; Barm, b. f., 3, by Brantorne—Zazel, and Noreen, a bay filly by Brantorne—Nora. Mr. Reed intends to school these youngsters over the fences.

Prince Frankfort, which was a Derby eligible and which was in training at Lexington, has been shipped East by Oots Bros. Moselle, Auroceiver, Topsy Robinson, Denigree and Arlin will also campaign on the metropolitan circuit this summer.

* * *

Jockey J. Lee is keeping up his reputation as the colored wonder. Yesterday he rode three winning mounts, and all of them were at good prices, too.

* * *

Zick Abrams rushed to the front when he saw the red flag. He must have thought it was a bankrupt sale.

* * *

Della Thorpe acted like a chorus girl making her first appearance before the footlights.

* * *

Lee made a home run on Rebounder, while Tinker stopped to repair a leak in the track.

* * *

Grover Warren, who rode Phil Finch to victory in the fourth race yesterday, is making a great record for himself. Out of fifteen mounts he has six times been a winner, five times second, three times third and only three times out of the money. The boy is a native of Louisville, and lives with his mother at Third and N streets, and it might be said that he is the sole support of the family. He is eighteen years old, and at present is under contract to W. S. Williams.

* * *

Johnny Bruens and Phil King, who operate the Eagle book, had a bad break in the fourth race. They laid top price on Phil Finch and bet on Ralbert.

* * *

J. Lee gave the talent an awful jolt in the last race. Taking Rebounder right to the front, he made a runaway race of it, winning, pulled up, by five lengths.

BOARD OF REVIEW MAKES DECISIONS

James Fogarty and George E. Smith Reinstated Temporarily Until Next Meeting.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The Board of Review of the National Trotting Association, which has been in session here since yesterday, adjourned to-day after announcing several decisions.

W. E. Patchen, of Burnside, Pa., and the bay gelding Carl Brown, 2:13½, which bore an alais of Lyne Patchen, were both expelled. The charge was driving out of class and under a false name at Elmira, N. Y., in 1906. F. C. Barlow, of Kenton, O., was suspended for controlling and driving horses on the track at Montgomery while under penalty. The application for full reinstatement of Charles Castle and I. E. Savacool, both of Titusville, Pa., and Frank Henratty, of Pleasantville, Pa., who were expelled two years ago, were granted. They acted as timers at a race in Titusvile, Pa., in 1904, in which, it was claimed, the time was suppressed.

The board reinstated temporarily until its next meeting James Fogarty, of St. Thomas, Ont., and took like action in the case of George H. Smith, of Steubenville, O., the latter having been under expulsion since 1898. Permanent reinstatement was granted to W. S. Steel, of Rossville, Md., who was expelled for abusive talk to the secretary of the meeting in Richmond, Va., last year. Steele apologized to the official, and his reinstatement was requested by the Richmond Association.

Sanford W. Walker, of Rochester, N. Y., was also permanently reinstated. The board also decided to change the record of 2:23 of the mare Fleety J., made at Buchanan, Va., on September 21, 1905, to 2:24¼, and fined L. B. Murphy, of Columbus, O., $50 for driving at the Lexington, Ky., club grounds while under suspension.

Robinson—Myers.

Miss Cordie Robinson, of Tusla, I. T., and Mr. William Fred Myers, of Columbia, were married at 8 o'clock last night in the parlor of the Willard Hotel by the Rev. E. L. Powell. Mr. Myers is a son of Mr. W. R. Myers, and is engaged in business with his father at Columbia. They became acquainted last summer when Miss Robinson was the guest of neighbors of the Myers family. The young woman made the trip from Indian Territory unaccompanied, and arrived in Louisville at noon yesterday. She was met at the station by the groom and his father and sister, Miss Myrtle Myers. It was decided to have the ceremony performed at the hotel when the members of the wedding party were guests at dinner of the groom's father.

RUSTLE HAS AN EASY VICTORY

Outsider Beats Good Field In Suffolk Stakes At Jamaica.

RADTKE BACK IN THE SADDLE.

Jockey Makes His First Appearance Since Accident and Pilots a Winner Home.

RESULTS ON OTHER TRACKS.

NEW YORK, May 8.—It was a bad day for favorites on the Jamaica course, but one, McCarter, winning. Rustle had an easy berth in the Suffolk Stakes and won by five lengths. Radtke made his first appearance since his spill from Zen Cole last week and was loudly cheered as he paraded Oyama past the grandstand in the fifth race and brought his horse home a winner at 5 to 1.

To-day was getaway day at Jamaica, with the Suffolk Stakes, an added money affair to the value of $1,000, for two-year-olds, as the magnet of attraction. To-morrow the scene shifts to Belmont Park.

At the latter place the best horses are shown, the millionaire owners vieing in the display of costly two-year-olds, while the Metropolitan Handicap, the National Stallion Stakes, the Juvenile Stakes, the Belmont Cup, the Withers and other valuable and historic fixtures attract a great concourse of racing votaries. Itself the finest racing plant in the world, Belmont Park's clubhouse lawn in early May is a picture and an inspiration.

In the great Metropolitan Handicap, which will be run to-morrow, a field of about sixteen horses is in prospect. For the first time in a long while "Davy" Johnson's Roseben receives an indulgence in the weight. He is asked to take up 124 pounds, as against 126 on a four-year-old, Accountant. The latter horse has been withdrawn.

In the opening event, a five-furlong dash for two-year-olds, Sweet Taire took the grapes from Alauda, the favorite, which, ridden by Miller, gave the winner a hard fight, being only beaten by three-quarters of a length. Sweet Taire, however, had just enough left at the last few strides to win. The Dane was two lengths behind Alauda, and the rest of the field was six lengths back.

The second, which was a mile and a sixteenth race for three-year-olds, gave little Preston a chance to land Tony Bonero, Barney Schreiber's good colt, in front, by a length, while Shenandoah and John Smulski fought it out for the place, the former coming under the wire first by a head after a beautiful struggle.

Old Dolly Spanker showed her field a few things in the handicap for three-year-olds and upward, which was the feature of the day. The aged mare had no trouble in capturing the race, and Miller, who had the mount, simply took things easy. It was a case of Dolly Spanker first and the rest nowhere, and she won by three lengths. Tommy Waddell had all he could do to stall off Flip Flap, which made a gallant bid for the place money, but was beaten out by a head. Lally, the only other starter, was eight lengths back. S.S.S. RIDS THE SYSTEM OF MALARIA

Malaria is an atmospheric poison which we unconsciously breathe into our system. The blood in its constant passage through the lungs absorbs the germs, and they destroy the rich, red corpuscles of this vital fluid and reduce it to such a weak, watery condition that it is unable to properly nourish the system, and disease gets a foothold. Then the symptoms of Malaria, such as pale, sallow complexions, weak vitality, poor appetite, deranged digestion, and perhaps chills and fever show that the trouble is affecting every part of the body. Malaria also affects the liver, producing a chronic state of biliousness, and often a long spell of fever follows when the blood becomes fully contaminated with the poison. Chronic Sores and Ulcers, boils, aches and pains, and skin affections of various kinds often result from this insidious disease if the poison is allowed to accumulate in the blood in sufficient quantities. Malaria must be removed from the system through the circulation, and for this purpose nothing equals S. S. S. This great remedy goes down into the blood and drives out all germs, microbes and poisons, and permanently cures Malaria, S. S. S. not only cleanses the blood of the cause, but furnishes it with the healthful properties it needs, so that instead of a weak, germ-infected stream, spreading disease throughout the system, it becomes a rich, red fluid, nourishing the body and enabling it to resist disease. S. S. S. is also the greatest of all tonics, and builds up and invigorates the entire system while ridding the blood of the germs of Malaria. Persons who are suffering from Malaria will be pleased with the prompt and pleasant results produced by the use of S. S. S., and can take it with confidence because it is an absolutely safe medicine, being free from harmful minerals of any kind. Book on the blood and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

RIVER BUSINESS AND WEATHER.

The river was on a stand last evening with 8 feet in the canal; 5 feet 8 on the falls, and 19 feet 8 at the foot of the locks....Business active; weather cloudy, threatening rain.

DRIFTWOOD.

The great City of Cincinnati leaves for Cincinnati Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. She meets the City of Louisville coming down seventy-five miles up the river, making the cheapest and most enjoyable trip on the river ever enjoyed....The Falls City goes to Kentucky river to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock....The Peters Lee leaves for Memphis and all-way landings at noon to-day....The Glenmore leaves for Evansville this afternoon at 4 o'clock....Capt. Jim O'Donnell and his dog took in the Derby....Joe Barber and John Harris, rousters on the Evansville, had a fight on board the boat upon her arrival at Evansville....The Rueben Dunbar and Electra are hauling corn from the bends near Evansville to Nashville....The races now going on have attracted many prominent and well-known men to this city, but none more conspicuous than Capt. James H. Rees, of Memphis. He has been identified with boat-building and river interests all his life and is a prominent builder and owner to-day....He is a large owner in the fine steamer Kate Adams, in the Memphis and Arkansas City trade, and an owner in other lines of boats in other trades. He is well and favorably known in Pittsburg, where he has lived most of his life, and is well known all along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers as an all-around boatman and a clever, big-hearted man with a host of friends everywhere he goes. Long may he live!....The J. B. Finley leaves for New Orleans to-morrow with a big tow of coal....The Pittsburg Gazette Times says: "Harbor No. 25, Master and Pilots' Association, yesterday decided to suggest to Maj. Henry C. Newcomer, United States Engineer, the following changes at Lock No. 2: First, that the shore crib be extended to the intake crib of the Edgar Thomson Steel Works; second, that the outside wall be extended up the river for 200 feet; third, that the outside wall be extended down the river 50 feet; fourth, that the first inside abutment at the Edgar Thomson Steel Works, below the lock, be removed."....More coal left Pittsburg yesterday for this city....The Jim Wood went back up the river with a tow of empties....The Joe B. Williams and tow of empties passed Cairo coming up Tuesday....The coal tows are giving the canal a rest....The Natchez Democrat says: "When the President comes to Natchez he can bet on it that he will have the time of his life. Still, it is the same way with all comers, as the people of this good old town have a habit of doing the right thing at the right time. Thomas Reber will have charge of the programme of entertainment. The Judge is a Republican, one of the very few in town, but no man but a sublime idiot would lug the Judge's politics into a discussion down this way. The dyed-in-the-wool Democrats around here judge a man by his personal merits, and that is why the Judge is ranked so high by his fellow-townsmen."....A dispatch from Huntsville, Ala., says: "Judge William Richardson, Representative in Congress of the Eighth Alabama district, left to-day for Chattanooga to meet the Board of Army Engineers assigned to the task of inspecting and reporting on the plans of the Mussel Shoals Hyda-Electric Company for the development of the power of Mussel Shoals in the Tennessee river. Lieut. Col. W. T. Rosell, Lieut. Col. D. C. Kingman, Maj. C. S. Riche, Maj. Henry Jervey, Capt. J. B. Kavanaugh and Lieut. W. G. Caples compose the board. The preliminary work will be done in Chattanooga, and the board will go to Mussel Shoals to investigate the plans of the company in detail. The question at issue is whether or not the development of power through the plans of the company will interfere with navigation at that point. Judge Richardson says that the Hydra-Electric Company is ready to expend something like twenty millions of dollars on the work. Five years will be required for a maximum of development, and by that time the company will be in a position to furnish electric lights and power to every farm house and city within a radius of 200 miles. Other companies will also very likely seek franchises for obtaining power at the shoals."....Many people at Madison will go up to Cincinnati and back Saturday on the City of Louisville low-rate excursion trip....The officers of the City of Louisville look very nobby in their new white felt hats, and they didn't bet on "de winnin' hoss at de Darby either."....The J. B. Finley takes forty-six barges of coal to Cairo to-day for the St. Louis Gas Company....The O'Neil is gone to New Orleans....Among the most popular and prominent visitors to the races is Col. Jeptha Fowlkes, ex-postmaster at Memphis.

When Nature tried her hand on Fowlkes
She used the best of clay.
For fear she'd make one more like him
She threw the moulds away.

RIVER TELEGRAMS.

Pittsburg, May 8.—[Special.]—The steamer Clara Ramos, built by James Rees & Sons for service in the State of Tabasco, Mexico, on the Valensuela Line of steamers running on Mexican rivers, left at noon to-day for Mexico. On board was a party including Congressman John Dalzell and wife, who will go as far as New Orleans and return by rail. The steamer is intended for passenger and freight traffic and will ply between the ports of Fronetera and LaGuna and the City of San Juan Bautista de Tabasco. Stopovers will be made at Cincinnati and Louisville. Among the guests were Congressman John Dalzell and wife; Frank Darkin, William Duff, Mrs. Mable Supplee, of Philadelphia; George Jenks, Miss Ella Caskey, Miss M. Rees, Mrs. D. A. Rees and Mrs. Douglas Ayres. The water in the harbor remained almost stationary to-day and there was 9.1 feet at Davis Island dam to-night. The only coal to go out was taken out by the A. R. Budd, fourteen barges, while a few more barges were taken out to add to the tows that left yesterday. The harbor is cleared of coal, landings being filled with empty pieces instead of loaded craft. The remarkably long shipping season has allowed all the coal to go out and the return of an unusually large number of empties. Two more tows of empties will arrive to-morrow, the Valiant and Sam Clark, owned by the River Coal Company. The Tom Dodsworth arrived with empties to-night.

Cincinnati, May 8.—[Special.]—At 6 p. m. to-day the Ohio river at Cincinnati was 22.3 feet and rising. The departures of packets to-day were: H. M. Stanley, for Pomery; Courier, for Maysville; Levi J. Workum, for Madison; City of Louisville for Louisville, and Peters Lee for Memphis. Rain and warm.

NEW RAILROAD SYSTEM FOR EASTERN KENTUCKY.

According To Plans It Will Form a Short Route From Charleston, S. C. To Chicago.

Springfield, O., May 8.—[Special.]—Several Springfield people, including Maj. T. J. Kirkpatrick and Dr. L. F. Niles, are the prime movers in the Kentucky North and South railroad, a regularly chartered organization engaged in the construction of a railroad running north and south through Eastern Kentucky. Its northern terminal is the Ohio river, probably in the vicinity of Fulton. It runs south some 250 miles, reaching Bristol, Tenn., where it connects with the Great Southern system.

The company has been quietly developing the proposition. At present it has deeds for about 85 per cent. of the right of way, while the remainder is in process. The engineers with Edgar S Parsons, of this city, in charge, have completed the survey for about 110 miles of the road, and are now in this city working upon the profiles and estimates of that portion. As soon as they have completed this the remainder of the road will be surveyed and the entire profiles and estimates made up.

This road will form an air line connection from Charleston, S. C., through to Chicago. It will not only greatly reduce the distance, it is claimed, but its low grades and long curves will add greatly to its earning power. In addition the K. N. and S. will open up a country exceedingly rich in coal and other natural resources.

TURF SCANDAL ON THE COAST.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—The stewards at Oakland are making a thorough investigation into several races run during the past two days. In connection with the case of Jockey J. Hunter, who was suspended yesterday, the officials feel that they have some corroboration of their belief that the boy pulled Meringue and Ethel Day. It is said that two agents, some bookmakers and several trainers may be involved. The sudden improvement of Woolma and Tonic is also under investigation.

American Players Defeated.

Newcastle, Ireland, May 8.—So far as the United States is concerned the ladies' golf championship tournament, which began here yesterday and was continued to-day, is at an end, as the two American players, Misses Margaret and Harriet S. Curtis, have been defeated.

In the third round Miss Harriet S. Curtis played both the best and the worst game of her life. During the first nine holes, this morning she could do but eight and turned four holes down to Miss Violet Hezlet.

Coming on her game at the tenth hole Miss Curtis soon put a different complexion on matters, and at the fifteenth she had made the game all square. She won the sixteenth, halved the seventeenth, lost the eighteenth and won the nineteenth and the match. This afternoon she was never on her game and was easily defeated by Miss Titterton by 9-up and 7 to play.

Miss Margaret Curtis, in the morning round, won an easy victory over Mrs. Crawford by 4-up and 3 to play. In the afternoon she met Miss May Hezlet, the British champion in 1899 and 1902, and made a good fight, but was defeated by 3-up and 2 to play.

CLIFF CURTIS BEATS LOCALS

Big Milwaukee Pitcher Holds Colonels Safe At All Times.

LOUISVILLE HAS HARD LUCK.

Bateman Makes Wonderful Stop and Nips Puttmann At Plate, Preventing a Score.

GAME IS FAST ALL THE WAY.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 8.—[Special.]—Cliff Curtis took summary revenge for the trouncing given him in Louisville by daubing whitewash over the Colonels in a spicy and dashing game to-day by a score of 3 to 0. The game was more or less of a duel between the lanky Brewer and Ambrose Puttmann. Both were in mighty form despite the frigid weather, but luck broke with the home outfit. Several times the visitors made dangerous bids to tally, but when hits meant runs Curtis was invincible.

For five innings the two teams fought along without a run, but in the sixth the Brewers broke the ice, Robinson marking up the first tally in the game. The little shortstop was the first man up in this inning and he singled a center, going to second on Stanley's error. Green sacrificed him to third and after McChesney had drawn a base on balls Bateman lifted a long fly to Neal, which allowed Robinson to come home.

In the eighth Robinson and Green were passed, McChesney advancing them to third with a sacrifice from where they scored on a safety into right. In their half of the eighth only the worst kind of luck prevented the Colonels from tallying. Puttmann was the first man up, reaching second on McCormick's error. Stovall put him on third with his out and Stanley followed by driving a vicious liner along the right-field foul line. Bateman, however, made a wonderful stop and nipped Puttmann at the plate by a quick throw.

In the first and second rounds the Colonels got two men on the bags, but the batters who followed could not drive them home.

In the ninth Brashear started off with a single, but was forced at second by Sullivan, who was out trying to steal. In the second inning Sullivan and Frank Roth collided at the first sack, but neither was hurt enough to warrant his quitting the game. Kennedy and Goodwin will be the opposing twirlers to-morrow. SPECIAL WANTED

To Carry Longworths To Cincinnati Home.

AUTOMOBILE AGAIN BREAKS DOWN AT SADIEVILLE

PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER HAS MANY TROUBLES ON TRIP.

USES REGULAR LOCAL TRAIN.

Lexington, Ky., May 8.—[Special.]—Judge and Mrs. D. Gray Falconer, of this city, whose guests the Longworth-Fleischman party were on their recent visit to Lexington, and who accompanied the party to Louisville to see the Derby, reached home this morning. The whole party, who spent the last night in Frankfort, left that city in the Longworth automobile this morning at 6 o'clock and made a run to Georgetown, where the Falconers left the party and returned to Lexington on the interurban car, and the remainder of the party, including Congressman and Mrs. Longworth, proceeded on their way to Cincinnati in their touring car.

About noon a telegram was received at the headquarters of the Queen and Crescent railroad here from Mr. Longworth at Sadieville, a town in Scott county, fourteen miles the other side of Georgetown, on the Queen and Crescent road, stating that his automobile had broken down there, and asking if he could be furnished a special train to take himself and wife to Cincinnati. The railroad officials immediately answered, saying that they would be very glad to furnish the Longworths with a special train if they wished it, but that the regular train for Cincinnati would pass through Sadieville at 4 o'clock, and they could take that if they wished. Mr. Longworth answered that they would wait for the 4 o'clock train.

Judge Falconer had heard nothing to-night from Sadieville, and it is presumed they took the train as intended and arrived in Cincinnati this evening.

Slowly Bleeds To Death.

Charles Kelly, a negro, died this afternoon, after slowly bleeding to death for the last two weeks. He was shot in the left arm about two weeks ago by Frank Paritee, a stepson, who is about sixteen years old. The wound was inflicted with a shotgun, and as the charge was only small bird shot, the wound at first was not considered serious. However, the charge was fired at close range and the small shot so shattered the bones of the arm and tore the flesh and muscles that the surgeons at St. Joseph's Hospital, where the negro was taken, found it impossible to entirely stop the hemorrhage, and the man slowly bled to death.

Paritee claims that Kelly had attacked his mother, Kelly's wife, and himself with a hatchet, and that he fired in self-defense. Paritee, who had been released when the wound was considered trivial, was rearrested on the charge of murder as soon as Kelly died.

Schools Want More Money.

The finance committee of the Lexington School Board has engaged Col. John R. Allen to file suit against the city for $15,000, alleged to be due the School Board from back tax collections. The School Board has repeatedly urged the city to pay this money, which is badly needed for use in establishing manual training in the public schools next fall. The finance committee had an interview with Mayor Combs a few days ago, but the Mayor held that as the apportionment ordinance had made no provision for this payment, the money could not be paid this year, and gave no assurance of its future payment. The committee therefore decided to file suit, and engaged Col. Allen as attorney.

SCENES BEFORE FIGHT.

Burns Confident He Would Defeat O'Brien—Facts About the Battle.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 8.—The house filled fast and the indications were early that the gate receipts would probably amount to $50,000. Both O'Brien and Burns said they were in the best of condition, and that the best man will win. Burns says O'Brien ran away from him last Thanksgiving eve, and as he does not profess to be a sprinter it was impossible for him to catch O'Brien. He said if O'Brien would stand up and fight there will be but one ending to the fight, and that he, Burns, would be the champion. Burns is faster than he was when he fought O'Brien last time, and he will enter the ring ten pounds heavier than his opponent.

O'Brien will have in his corner Billy Nolan, aBttling Nelson, Bob Ward and Battling Swanson. Burns will have Prof. Lewis, Jimmy Burns, Abe Attell and Kid Berry. Bill Squires, the Australian champion, who was expected to be at the ring, has not appeared up to a late hour, and he is reported to be in San Francisco. Charlie Eyton will referee the main event. The attendance at 10 o'clock was about 5,800. All the high-priced seats were occupied, and only a few of the cheaper ones were vacant.

Hugo Kelly is here and will fight Jack "Twin" Sullivan for the middleweight championship before this club next Friday night.

The preliminary was cut to six rounds, and was declared a draw. The crowd howled for the main event. Looking around the house it was seen there was a number of vacant seats, and the receipts are not so large as reported. The receipts were about $40,000. A big bundle of flowers are thrown into the center of the ring. The men will evidently take their choice. Jimmy Coffroth and Willis Britt occupyed seats close to the ring. Some small bets were made at the ringside at 10 to 6.

At 10:03 o'clock the men posed and pictures were taken. The ring was cleared for action and the referee called the men to the center of the ring for instructions. It was announced that the men would fight straight Queensberry rules, and must break at the command of the referee protecting themselves at all times.

Burns weighs 180 pounds and O'Brien 170 pounds. O'Brien says he is feeling like a winner. Burns surely thinks he will win. He says he wants to meet Jeffries and will post $5,000 as a side bet if the match can be made.

There are a number of notable ring masters at the ringside to-night among them are Battling Nelson, Abe Attell, Jim Jeffries and Jack Twin Sullivan.

Jimmy Flynn entered the ring and shook hands with both men. He challenged the winner of the contest. Hugo Kelly was introduced. Jack Sullivan was also introduced. They will fight in this ring next Friday night. Hugo Kelly also challenged the winner.

Both men looked to be in the best of condition. O'Brien weighs 167 pounds and Burns 175. O'Brien wore green trunks with the red, white and blue. Burns had red trunks with same trimmings.

JOHN L. SEES ROOSEVELT.

Former Champion Pugilist Chats With President and Praises Taft.

Washington, May 8.—John L. Sullivan, the former pugilist, had an interesting chat with President Roosevelt to-day, covering various subjects. Sullivan said that he had seen the President at a number of bouts in New York and called the President's particular attention to one that occurred with Mitchell, the English heavyweight, in 1883, when Sullivan knocked him over the ropes.

Sullivan met Secretary Taft at the doors of the Executive offices as he was about to come in. He put in a good word with the Secretary for clemency for a friend which is serving a sentence on Governor's Island and concerning whom the pugilist had written Secretary Taft some time ago.

"Guess I got you skinned a block," remarked Sullivan to the Secretary, talking about their respective weights. John L. said he weighed 335 pounds or 331 stripped, while Secretary Taft remarked that his weight was only 283, and the best he ever did was to tip the beam at 330.

As he was leaving the White House Sullivan paid his compliments to big men, saying among other things:

"That man Taft is what I call a man, too. The President is a great man. It takes big fellows a long time to get started, but when they are going they go like h—."

Honors For Foreign Visitors.

Washington, May 8.—Official Washington was busy to-day making preparations for the proper reception and entertainment of the distinguished foreign army and naval officers who are now in the United States in connection with the opening of the Jamestown Exposition. The Japanese party will arrive in Washington by rail at 3:10 p. m. to-morrow. An hour and a half later a numerous party will follow, composing nearly all of the senior officers of the foreign ships now at the exposition. A round of receptions, luncheons and dinners will be extended to these visitors.

Tobacco Acreage Cut.

Paris, Ky., May 8.—[Special.]—The Bourbon County Board of Control of the American Society of Equity announces that more than 400 acres of the 1907 crop have been added to the tobacco already pooled, leaving less than 1,000 acres yet unsigned. Secretary Collins reports the acreage as being cut short because of scarcity of healthy plants.

METROPOLITAN HANDICAP TO BE RUN TO-DAY.

Roseben Favorite In Overnight Betting In Big $10,000 Race At Belmont Park—Fine Field In Classic.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The Metropolitan Handicap will be run at the opening of Belmont Park to-morrow, and indications point to one of the strongest fields that have ever lined up for the $10,000 prize. While the number of horses that will go to the post is not as large as in previous years, the entrants are of a class that guarantees a great race. Track conditions will not be the most desirable, as recent heavy rains have left the course heavy, and the weather to-night is still unsettled. The opening of the season at Belmont is always the occasion of a large attendance of the socially prominent, and to-morrow's is expected to be fully up to the standard in numbers. Thirty to forty thousand is the usual first-day attendance.

Roseben, the big sprinter of the Johnson stable, has been made favorite in the overnight betting at 2 to 1, while Tanya, Dandelion, Sewell, Glorifier and Dishabille are looked upon as having almost equal chances next to the favorite. The fact that Jockey J. Martin will ride Roseben is expected to improve the chances of the favorite, as Martin knows his disposition thoroughly and has handled him in many of his big races.

Sewell, ridden by Brussel, will have a strong following, as will also Harry Payne Whitney's Tanya, with Koerner up. Last year's Brooklyn Handicap winner, Tokalon, with a comparatively light impost, fancies the distance—one mile—and will be a strong contender. August Belmont's Blandy, with Mountain up, is considered an outsider in the betting, as the horse has not shown striking form in previous starts this spring.

There are fourteen horses carded to go to the post in the Metropolitan, as follows, with weights and probable jockeys:

Horse.	Weight.	Jockey.
Glorifier	119	Garner
Roseben	121	J. Martin
Dandelion	110	Radtke
W. H. Carey	118	McDaniel
Dishabille	115	L. Williams

Sewell	100	Brussel
Bat Masterson	93	Preston
Zienap	94	Hogg
Nealon	114	Dugan

Tanya	118	Koerner

M'CHORD HEADS COMMISSIONERS

BECOMES PRESIDENT OF NATIONAL ORGANIZATION.

RESIGNATION RESULTS IN HONOR FOR KENTUCKIAN.

ESPECIALLY IN LIMELIGHT NOW

Washington, May 8.—[Special.]—C. C. McChord, chairman of the Kentucky Railroad Commission, to-night became president of the National Association of State Railroad Commissioners and Interstate Commerce Commissioners. W. C. McMillan, who was elected at the last meeting of the association, has resigned the position, and Mr. McChord succeeds him by virtue of holding the first vice presidency. The executive committee of the association held a meeting here to-night, at which Mr. McChord's succession was formally ratified. It is understood that McMillan has also resigned his position as State Commissioner, owing to a proposed legislative investigation of his official conduct. At the meeting here last January McMillan was elected by but one majority over McChord. The National Commission is composed of the Commissioners of thirty-four States and the members of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Owing to the prominence which has attached to railroad legislation within the past few years, the body is now one of the most important in the country, and the selection of Mr. McChord as its president is a high and deserved honor for the Kentuckian. The association will hold its annual convention in this city October 8, and its proceedings at this particular period will be watched with great interest, owing to their effect upon the congressional legislation programme.

SPECIAL VENIRE FOR HARGIS TRIAL

DEPUTIES SUMMONING 300 IN SCOTT COUNTY.

TAKING OF TESTIMONY WILL BEGIN MONDAY.

HURRY CALL FOR WITNESSES.

Lexington, Ky., May 8.—[Special.]—Deputy Sheriffs Waller Rodes and Cloud Bosworth started for Georgetown early this morning, where, with the aid of the officers there, they will to-day and to-morrow summon 300 Scott-county citizens for service on the special venire called for by the Lexington Circuit Court, from which to select a jury for the trial of James Hargis, which will begin here Friday.

Ed Callahan returned to Jackson to-day, but James and Alex. Hargis remained here, and spent the day aiding their attorneys in having subpoenas issued for the witnesses for the defense. It is probable that Friday will be consumed in securing a jury, and that the opening statements will be made Saturday. It will be Monday before the testimany is begun. The court, however, will make every effort to accelerate the trial, in view of the trial of the same defendants being set at Sandy Hook for May 28.

If James Hargis is acquitted, it is probable that the cases against the other defendants, Alex. and Elbert Hargis and Ed Callahan, will be filed away. If, however, James Hargis is found guilty, the prosecution may decide to try the cases against the other defendants at once.

Stock Exchange Sales.

25 shares E. St. Louis and Suburban pf.. 80

Railroad directors have frequently been criticised for having increased their dividend rates at a time when cost of labor and supplies were advancing so rapidly. An official estimate of the cost to the Pennsylvania railroad of the recent advances in wage scales on the lines directly operated east of Pittsburg puts it at $9,000,000 annually. The cost of the increase in the dividend rate from 6 to 7 per cent. has been approximately $3,000,000, or only a third of what has been added to the compensation of agents, train crews and workmen of all classes in the same time. On other lines, where the share capital represents a smaller proportion of the investment in the plant, the ratio of increase is still more widely in favor of wages. On the New York Central, for instance, the increase in dividends from 5 to 6 per cent. makes a difference of about $1,780,000 annually, whereas the advance in wages amounts in gross to easily four times that amount.

Charles A. Conant, the well-known writer on money and banking, in an address before the Economic Club, of Providence, said that one of the reasons for the recent high rate for money and for the difficulty which the railways experienced in obtaining loans was due to the fact that savings had been too rapidly converted into fixed capital. In this connection he said that the outstanding security issues of the country representing fixed capital amounted to about $34,000,000,000, but that the net amount, after deducting securities held by corporations, was probably about $24,000,000,000.

Hon. Charles G. Dawes, president of the Central Trust Company of Illinois, in response to a request for his opinion regarding the outlook for money, furnished the following statement: "I see no reason why the business activities of the country should be appreciably less for some time to come. As long as the present volume of purchasing power exists in the United States business should be reasonably active. The withdrawal of bank deposits is that which cuts down the purchasing power of the people. There is no sign of any such impairment of general confidence as will affect, to any extent, bank deposits. Until this occurs, while there will be alternating periods of ease and stringency in the money market, there will be, in my judgment, no material slackening in the course of business. As is usually the case in periods of prosperity, I expect to see money rates on the whole high for the next year or so. Prosperity is only another name for activity in exchanges. Activity in exchanges means always a burden upon the money supply of the country, which, in turn, means, on the average, high interest rates."

The new independent telephone exchange in Omaha, Neb., will cost $2,000,000. The entire system in that city will be placed underground. California capitalists backing the company have begun war on the Bell interests in the Far West. They will install exchanges in Los Angeles, Seattle, Tacoma and other cities in the West.

There is a hitch in the lease of the properties of the Cincinnati, Newport and Covington Light and Traction Company to the Columbia Corporation of New York. Some of its provisions are said to conflict with the charter of the leasing company.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Philadelphia Company, of Pittsburg, the retiring directors were re-elected, with the exception that Edwin Smith was chosen to succeed John Reilly, deceased. The report for the fiscal year ended March 31 shows gross earnings of $18,542,601, an increase of $1,316,436 over 1906, and net returns applicable to dividends of $2,826,784, an increase of $192,100.

The McKinley Electric Interurban Railway System has not yet made contracts for its improvements at St. Louis. Arrangements will soon be made, however, to begin construction.—(St. Louis Republic.

The annual meeting of the Kansas City Railway and Light Company will be held in Jersey City on June 24. The report of earnings for the fiscal year, which ends with the present month, is expected to make an excellent exhibit, and it is a matter of common belief, says a Chicago dispatch, that the directors will begin the new business period with the beginning of dividends on the common stock.

Illinois coal operators are back of the Duquoin, Belleville and St. Louis Electric Railway, which will build a line from the mining town of Ziegler to St. Louis, a distance of 100 miles. The electric roads engaged in the coal-carrying business have prospered and the stockholders in the new company are very optimistic. The Carnegie Trust Company, of New York City, the new institution of which Leslie M. Shaw is president, will probably finance the deal. The trust company has, it is reported, taken over $2,000,000 of the bonds of the new railway.

THE IRON MARKET.

New York, May 8.—The Iron Age will say to-morrow:

"There has been a notable resumption of work on the part of the blast furnaces, a net gain of ten stacks being recorded in the monthly blast furnace statistics collected. The result is that May 1 there were in operation 323 anthracite and coke furnaces with a weekly capacity of 523,912 tons, which is the record thus far for this country and compares with 497,456 tons on April 1. The output for April, a short month, was 2,216,558 tons, or at the rate of 73,885 tons daily as compared with 2,226,457 tons in March or 71,821 tons daily. Three large furnaces gone in during the first few days of May, which will add about 6,000 tons per week to the capacity. It is a noteworthy fact, however, that the increase in output and in capacity is almost entirely due to the steel works furnaces. These made in April 1,446,788 tons as compared with 1,424,827 tons in March leaving 769,770 tons and 801,630 tons respectively for the merchant furnaces. This is an actual decline from 25,860 tons daily in March to 23,659 tons daily in April.

"The foundry iron markets are firmer throughout the country. The makers generally have either withdrawn from the market, notably in the South and in the Central West and the districts along the lakes, or are confining sales to practically the last quarter. Much is said also about the large sales during the last few weeks, which have brought about this condition, but there has been unusual reticence all along as to details.

"At tidewater points and, to a considerable distance into the interior, the advance in the price of foreign iron has had a sympathetic effect, the higher prices abroad being chiefly attributed to buying from Germany.

"There has been some movement in basic iron in the East, sales during the week aggregating between 35,000 and 40,000 tons of which Eastern Pennsylvania took about 30,000 tons.

Reports of the purchase by the leading interest of steel billets from Eastern steel makers have been greatly exaggerated. They probably did not exceed 10,000, but still they are significant as reflecting the scarcity of steel in the Central West.

"The railroads do not seem to be taking hold very vigorously in their purchases for delivery in 1908. So far as can be learned nothing has been closed so far. One inquiry for 50,000 tons has come up in Chicago, and the Harriman lines are making inquiry, coupled with the statement that only open hearth rails will be considered.

"Structural shops have taken comparatively little business during the past week. The 15,000 tons required for a floating dry dock for this city will interest plate makers more particularly. They, too, are concerned in a riveted pipe line for the Rocky mountains which calls for about 38,000 tons of material.

"Agricultural implement makers have been buying bars more liberally. The condition of the sheet and tinplate trades is indicated by the fact that the steel corporation has all of its sheet mills and 91 per cent. of its tinplate mills in operation."

MARKET LETTERS.

New York.—The selling pressure in New York Central did not shake out much stock in any issue, and in this respect the campaign against that stock was not much of a success. Some long New York Central stock probably came out, but we think many of the sales were short transactions. This was shown by the ease with which it rallied at the close. It was the fine April report of the Vanderbilt lines that turned the market. To be sure, it was only a report of gross earnings; but we are told that the net will be far better than the March quarter. Some very large items were charged to operating expenses in March. These included a lot of accidents. This report shows that the volume of business is more than keeping up. That the total volume of business in stocks to-day was only about one-half that of yesterday, after all of the attacks against New York Central, indicated that few persons care to sell.—(C. I. Hudson & Co. to S. C. Henning & Co.

New York.—The bears took a whole lot of pains to-day to force the market down, but with the exception of New York Central they met with very little headway. Dealings after the first hour were purely nominal, denoting for the time being the sold out condition of the market and practically discounting the Government report to be issued Friday which is universally expected to be bad from all known facts to hand. The departure for foreign shores of an individual high up in the councils of the Standard Oil Company was responsible for a little heaviness in Amalgamated Copper. The market still continues rather narrow and professional, but the outlook for the immediate market seems to be for better prices.—(Miller & Co. to John L. Dunlap.

New York.—Shorts covered in the last half hour, scoring a slight rally. The market looks sold out again and t[illegible]efore an advance of a few points should t[illegible] place.—(Kelley, Miller & Co. to Almstedt [illegible].

New York.—After the end of the first hour the tone of the market changed. There was increased pressure from several sources and on a quick reaction the leading and most active stocks lost all their early gains.—Ex. Norton & Co. to J. J. B. Hilliard & Son.

New York.—Houses taking a bearish position in the market are said to base their ideas upon a condition of 75 per cent. to be shown by the Government report on wheat due on Friday. This seems to be a lower figure than is likely to be realized. The reaction has carried leading issues substantially below recent low levels and the same scarcity of stocks in case of issues is manifest now as was the case prior to the advance. The short interest is considerably extended and we think that purchases on moderate concessions will prove profitable.—(Ennis & Stoppani to E. H. Morgan & Co.

New York.—Money was a trifle firmer to-day, but not much change in rates is expected in the near future. Crop reports varied but little from the tenor of the past few days, but better weather is predicted and if to-morrow's reports are any more encouraging it is probable there will be more buoyancy in the stock market. It looks safe to buy the better class of stocks for a moderate profit.—(A. O. Brown & Co. to Hunt, Bridgeford & Co.

New York.—To-day's market was a dull and stupid affair. This dullness, although trying to the commission broker, is probably the best thing we could have for the time being, for we have not the money to carry on a big bull speculation and the time of the year and general conditions are against any such move. On the other hand, prices are relatively so low that it would seem unlikely that we should have a recurrence of the heavy selling pressure. In the past few days the old bear party have made quite an effort to put the market down, but prices do not seem to decline very easily, and it looks to us as if, technically, for the time being, it was about sold out. We believe a moderate rally is next in order, but we do not look for much beyond this.—(Post & Flagg to John W. & D. S. Green.

New York.—A little outside selling, coupled with local sales, caused the market to gradually sag, and at the noon hour stocks were dragging around bottom. Liquidation was quite heavy in New York Central, Union Pacific and other high-class stocks. Although trade was almost entirely professional the constant hammering of the list on bad reports from the wheat belt caused many to sell who bought yesterday.—(W. L. Lyons & Co.

New York.—The market to-day developed some weak spots. At the start prices ruled high on covering by traders. Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Reading did better soon after the opening, but weakness developing in New York Central on fairly good sales the list sold off. Traders switched to the bear side and hammered the list. The tractions were firmer in the first hour with Interboro preferred selling up to near 60 on small dealings. The general list remained dull with no outside business during the afternoon. Union Pacific and A. C. P. recovered and N. Y. C. recovered sharply on covering, but the movement did not attract much of a following. There was more activity and a better tone to the close.—(J. S. Bache & Co. to Washington Flexner & Co.

New York.—New York Central was again the feature, declining to a new low price on this movement, and tips were freely offered in the room that the stock would sell at par. After 2:30 there was a fractional rally led by Union Pacific, Reading and New York Central, the latter advancing sharply on covering, but the rally lacked snap and held only passably well. Sentiment was helped by a decline in grain prices, but this was to a certain extent offset by a sharp rise in cotton on continued damage reports. Just at the close a report from Albany that the Republican leaders had patched up their differences with Gov. Hughes and would pass the Utilities Bill in the shape in which the Governor wanted it, caused quite a slump in Brooklyn Rapid Transit.—(E. & C. Randolph to E. E. Paine & Co.

STOCK MARKET REVIEW.

New York, May 8.—Money on call steady at 2½@3 per cent.; ruling rate 2¾@3; closing bid 2¾; offered at 3; time loans slightly firmer; 60 days 3½@4; 90 days 4@4¼; six months 4½; prime mercantile paper 5½@6. Sterling exchange weak, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.8615@4.8620 for demand and at $4.8320@4.8325 for 60-day bills; posted rates $4.84 and $4.87; commercial bills $4.83@4.83⅝. Bar silver 64⅞c. Mexican dollars 50c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds heavy.

Operations in the stock market were at a minimum to-day and the feeble and uncertain fluctuations in prices were significant of the lack of conviction on the part of speculators. The dealings were in the hands of a narrow professional class and could not be said to represent anything more than shifting sentiment and efforts to detect a prevalent tendency in the course of prices that might be followed.

An early advance in a few stocks attracted no important following and the signs of weakness in New York Central seemed to be due to further selling prompted by consideration of the wide margin below the dividend requirement shown by the net earnings of the company for the first quarter of the year. An additional weakening factor was furnished by the publication of the report of the State Railroad commission on the Brewster wreck. The selling of the stock was in small amounts, but no support was apparent to check the declining tendency while these offerings continued. The pressure on the stock was lifted to some extent after the publication of the gross earnings statement for April, which showed an expansion of over 20 per cent. over the earnings for April of last year. Such a rate of increase, if maintained, would be sufficient to offset even such a large growth in operating expenses as was made in the March quarter and so would tend to preserve the integrity of the fund available for dividends.

On the side of the crop news stocks fared better than for several days past. Great importance was attached to the moderating weather in the Northwest as giving promise of opportunities to effect the belated planting of spring wheat in time to leave good opportunities for a harvest. The occasional rallies in the wheat market itself were of less effect than usual on stocks because of the influence of foreign crop damage reports in the movement. Delaware and Hudson was better supported than for several days past. The suggested nature of the financing said to be in contemplation was considered less formidable than the vague rumors which have preceded these reports. Some suspicion of activity by a bear party in the stock also affected the decline.

Conditions in the money market underwent slight change, although circumstances point to declining resources of the banks. The $2,000,000 transferred to San Francisco figure in the Subtreasury such as the operation was done by deposit at that institution against withdrawal to be made from the Subtreasury in San Francisco. Exports of gold are not immediately contemplated apparently, but a later outgo to Paris is still considered probable. Sterling exchange reacted at Paris to-day, but was weak here also. Money in London, however, is reported fairly abundant and with as little effect in arousing activity in the stock market as here. Some corporation requirements are an influence in the current money market in New York.

Union Pacific seemed to take little harm from rumors of an intended issue of convertible bonds to furnish needed resources. It rallied to a gain of a point in the late market.

WHISKY MARKET.

Aged Goods In Bond Advance—This Year's Crop Will Be Large.

The Wine and Spirit Bulletin in its May issue has the following in regard to the whisky market:

"The market has changed from one of waiting and shows very great activity. As a rule most of the holders of aged whiskies in bond have advanced their prices a few cents over the already high prices that they had reached one month ago, and it is difficult for the brokers to secure any lots without paying this slight advance. We believe on the whole the market price on this class of whisky has been advanced from 2½c to 5c a gallon, and what sales have been made have gone at this advanced price. The opinion arrived at by Attorney General Bonaparte has been the cause of the firm market. The distillers who supply the wholesale trade have been very careful in trying to protect the interest of their customers, and in nearly every case the distillers have offered their customers whatever they may need of their stocks at the old prices, and have given them ample opportunity to supply their wants before this condition forces the prices too high. The crop of spring 1907 has pretty near entirely been sold out. Contracts for the medium grades of whiskies were made in December at about from 23c to 23½c, and continued at that price until early in March, when the distillers, owing to the enormous demand made on them, were forced to advance, on account of the increased price for cooperage, to 25c, and later to 27½c, and at these prices the goods have been bought up so rapidly that nearly all of the large houses have had to go out of the market entirely, having nothing further to offer.

"The crop of whisky this year will be large, but we do not think an excessive one on account of the changed conditions. Were it possible to secure more barrels the demand of the wholesale trade would force the distillers to make many million gallons more in Kentucky than they will produce. Tax payments still continue to run exceedingly heavy. Our advice still is to buy any bonded whiskies at the present prices, for we will see them much higher."

Washington, May 8.—To-day's statement of the Treasury balances in the general fund, exclusive of the $150,000,000 gold reserve, shows:

Available cash balance	$255,521,906
Gold coin and bullion	98,277,636

FOREIGN FINANCIAL.

London, May 8.—The supplies of money were plentiful in the market to-day to meet the limited demand. Discounts were steady. Trading on the Stock Exchange was dull and uninteresting in spite of the cheapness of money and the record Board of Trade figures published yesterday. British securities scarcely moved. Foreigners were the brightest section. Japanese continued in demand. Japanese Imperial 6s of 1904 closed at 101¾. Rio Tinto spurted sharply on buying for cash houses, which also supported Kaffirs, in order to offset the effect of the Rand labor troubles. Americans, after adjustment at parity, started slowly upward on bear covering, together with moderate local orders. All grades were in fair request and the market was fully as good as that of the close of last week. No special features were noted. The old dark market ruled firm and unchanged.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Louisville.

(Reported by the Louisville Live Stock Exchange, Bourbon Stock Yards.)

Louisville, May 8.—Cattle—Receipts to-day were 124; for the three days this week 1,520. While the supply was comparatively light, the offerings were sufficient in quantity to meet the requirements of the trade in most instances and no material change reported during the day in the general condition of the market. The choice desirable butcher cattle were again scarce and a good active demand characterized the trade in that branch of the industry, and steady prices easily realized; the common and medium kinds proved somewhat slow. Best grades of feeders and stockers continue in fair request; plain, common grades dull. Bulls considered unchanged; likewise canners and choice milch cows. Heavy cattle market nominally steady. The pens were well cleared and trade closed steady.

Calves—Receipts 218; for the week so far 455. Market practically unchanged; bulk best $5.25@5.75; common grades plentiful and slow sale.

Hogs—Receipts to-day 2,439; for the week thus far 7,094. A better feeling prevailed at the opening and values generally ruled 5c higher; bulk of the best, 160 lbs. and up, $6.50; 100 to 160 lbs. $6.45; 100 lbs. down $6, and roughs $5.95. The pens were well cleared. Market quiet at the close.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts to-day were again light, only 29 head; for the week so far 574. No change of any consequence reported in the market condition. The demand for choice fat sheep continues unabated and hardly enough coming to meet demand; other grades, however, were dull. Choice spring lambs in fair request, but few coming as yet.

COTTON MARKETS.

New York, May 8.—The cotton market was more active to-day and after some early hesitating ruled decidedly firm with prices reaching a new high record for the bull movement. The close was very steady at a net advance of 10@20 points. Sales for the day were reported at 430,000 bales. The opening was steady at an advance of one point on near months, which were influenced by bull support, but generally 1@2 points lower, under lower cables than expected and expectations of better weather in the South. During the early session, fluctuations were comparatively narrow and irregular, but the eastern belt forecast calling for further rains was followed by a flood of private crop reports claiming damage from wind and rain storms in various sections of the belt. There was an improvement in the volume of outside demand, part of which was from Southern sources; early sellers covered and the market became very firm, the advance being led by July. That position sold at 10.71c in the late trading and closed at 10.70c, while January reached as high as 10.88c and closed at 10.87c. Numerous private reports of a bullish character concerning the outlook for the crop as a result of too much wet weather were the features of the day in connection with the predictions for continued rains and the increased demand from through wire commission houses. Southern spot markets were unchanged to ⅛c higher.

Futures opened steady and closed very steady. Prices ranged as follows:

Futures opened quiet and steady with prices ranging from 5 points above the close yesterday to unchanged. The market was advanced still further by continuous reports of crop damage as a result of excessive rains and cold weather. New crop months were favored in the trading and after selling for a reaction various interests turned their attention to buying. The close was very steady, May and July being quoted at 11 points above the close yesterday, with October and December 17 points above. The range for the day was as follows:

COTTON COMMENT.

New York.—Speculation is broadening steadily, and the attractiveness of the market's position as well as the presence of two powerful bull pools in the May option here and July in New Orleans and the condition of the crop is increasing the market's possibilities.—(T. A. McIntyre & Co.

There is more public interest as market broadens. We believe as the days pass and no improvement in weather conditions is evident, we will gradually see higher prices.—J. S. Bache & Co. to Washington Flexner & Co.

We believe cotton should be bought for much higher prices are in early prospect.—(Hubbard Bros. & Co. to E. E. Paine & Co.

The situation looks a little serious and should we have a few more days of this cold, rainy weather the advance will continue. Keep off the short side of the summer months. We advise caution and small commitments.—(A. O. Brown & Co. to Hunt, Bridgeford & Co.

The main feature of the market is the special strength of July, even in the face of what seems to be heavy realizing. We still favor the purchase of cotton on all reactions for much higher prices.—(Carpenter, Baggot & Co.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, May 8.—Prices in the local wheat market to-day were depressed by cause of improved weather conditions in the Northwest and Southwest. At the close, wheat for July delivery was off ⅛c. Corn was up ⅛@¼c. Oats were a shade lower. Provisions were 2½@12½c higher.

The wheat market was very largely a weather affair and with conditions more favorable for the development of the fall sown crop, and for the seeding of spring wheat, sentiment in the pit was bearish nearly all day. The market opened easy, but about the end of the first hour a substantial rally carried prices up ½c. The upturn was caused by a 6¼c advance at Budapest. The local market, however, soon eased off and during the remainder of the day was inclined to drag. Crop damage reports were less numerous to-day than for several days past. The market closed weak at about the lowest point of the day. July wheat opened unchanged to ⅛c lower at 85@85¼c; sold off to 84⅝c, and then advanced to 85⅝@85¾c. The close was at 84¾c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 274,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 723,000 bushels against 169,000 bushels for the same day last year. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 427 cars against 537 cars last week and 89 cars one year ago.

Trading in corn was quiet, but the market was firm because of the continued small movement of grain. Cash houses reported that country acceptances were light because of the reluctance of farmers to sell old corn in view of the possibility that the new crop may not mature well because of the lateness of seeding. The close was firm. July opened unchanged to a shade higher at 49⅜@49½c to 49¾c, sold between 49⅜c and 49⅞c and closed at 49⅝c. Local receipts were 178 cars with 23 of contract grade.

Oats opened easier because of the more favorable weather conditions. Later the market became steadier, the firmness of corn, having some effect. Prices, however, showed little change. July opened a shade to ⅛@¼c lower at 42⅞@43c, sold at 43@43⅛c and closed at 43c. Local receipts were 160 cars.

Provisions were firm all day in spite of a 5c decline in the price of live hogs. The foreign demand was good, while offerings were light. At the close July pork was up 12½c at $16.25. Lard was up 2½c at $8.27½. Ribs were 7½c higher at $8.90.

Estimated receipts for to-morrow: Wheat 29 cars; corn 188; oats 211; hogs 24,000 head.

WOULD DRAIN ALL STAGNANT PONDS

HEALTH OFFICER OUTLINES HIS PLANS TO PREVENT DISEASE.

ORDINANCE ALMOST DEAD LETTER—CITY SHOULD ACT.

FINANCIAL SIDE OF QUESTION.

Dr. M. K. Allen, Health Officer, advocates the draining of all ponds within the limits of the city with a view to eliminating the mosquito pest this summer. He said yesterday afternoon that he would make such a recommendation to Mayor Paul C. Barth and the members of the Board of Public Works. There is an ordinance, he says, requiring property owners to fill in stagnant ponds which spread malaria and breed flies and mosquitoes, but which has never been enforced. Where it is practicable, he is in favor of enforcing this ordinance, but where it is not, he favors a plan whereby the city at its own expense shall drain stagnant ponds and pools of water within the corporate limits of the city.

Calling attention to the number of ponds and pools of water in the vicinity of the "Point," Dr. Allen said that they are a menace to the health of those living in that community. They breed any number of mosquitoes and flies, he said, which carry disease into the homes in the neighborhood. Those who become ill, many of them, are taken to the City Hospital to be cared for at the expense of the city.

"The city pays out thousands of dollars each year in caring for patients made ill by disease carried by mosquitoes and flies," said Dr. Allen. "It also spends a sum of money annually for oil that is sprinkled over the ponds in an attempt to exterminate the mosquitoes. The thing to do, however, is to get rid of the cause by draining or filling up all ponds within the city limits. This would leave the mosquitoes no breeding place, especially if the residents of Louisville would do their share and not allow utensils filled with water to remain about their premises. An enormous amount of disease is spread by mosquitoes and flies, and the sooner we rid ourselves of these pests the better it will be for the health of the community."

Some time ago Dr. Allen recommended to the Board of Public Works that the work of sprinkling ponds within the city limits with oil be started May 15, and that the ponds be sprinkled with oil every two weeks thereafter until the close of the summer. He means to inaugurate a pitiless war against the flies and mosquitoes from now until the close of the season, and is of the opinion that if his recommendations with reference to draining or filling up all ponds are acted upon favorably the city will benefit materially.

FIRE THREATENS PLANT OF LOUISVILLE VENEER MILLS.

Blaze Confined To Frame Building Used By Concern As Drying Room —Loss About $600.

Fire, discovered in a two-story frame structure, adjoining the main plant of the Louisville veneer mills, at Campbell and Fulton streets, at 10:45 o'clock yesterday morning, damaged the structure to the extent of $600 and for a time threatened to spread to the main building, which would have resulted in a loss running into thousands of dollars. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Several of the employes discovered the flames shooting out of the windows of the two-story structure, used as drying-rooms, and at once summoned the fire department, while they themselves tried to put out the flames by tearing away burning embers. The fire department succeeded in getting control of the fire in about half an hour, and managed to keep the flames from spreading to the main building by pouring streams of water on the roof and walls. There was little stock in the burned structure and as a result the loss sustained was on the building alone, and comes within $600.

HIS TWO DIGITS

Valued By Trial Jury At $10,000.

HARDWARE EXPERT INCAPACITATED BY LOSS OF THEM.

MURPHY MURDER CASE GIVEN ANOTHER CONTINUANCE.

MRS BISCHOFF ASKS DIVORCE.

For the loss of two fingers, which had deprived him of a $3,000 position, J. D. Neely was yesterday given $10,000 in damages by a jury in Judge Field's court, the Louisville Railway Company being the defendant. It only took the jury fifteen minutes to reach its decision, making the time consumed by its deliberations cost the loser an average of $750 a minute.

Mr. Neely was the victim of a collision between two cars at Thirteenth and Main streets last June. He was riding upon the front platform of one of the cars when the impact occurred, and, besides receiving severe internal injuries, the thumb and fingers of his left hand were badly mangled. So serious was their condition that it became necessary to amputate the thumb and ring finger to prevent complications. He had sued for $25,000.

At the time of the accident Mr. Neely, who is forty-five years of age, held the position of instructor for traveling men for a large local hardware and manufacturing company. He also traveled himself at times. His principal duty was to teach new men in the service of the company how to handle all kinds of hardware in displaying it for merchants. He was particularly expert in teaching his fellow-employes how to show firearms. The loss of two digits from his left hand and the injury to the others so incapacitated him as to prevent him entirely from the handling of tools or arms. He was finally forced to retire from his position, and, according to the testimony, his employer gave him up with reluctance. He later went to New York to embark in the insurance business. J. T. O'Neal represented the plaintiff.

Another continuance of the case of Dr. Sarah Murphy, charged with the murder of Katie Bryant, by an attempted criminal operation, was granted the Commonwealth yesterday, and the case was redocketed for May 20. A continuance was made necessary because Norton Goldsmith, who, with A. J. Carroll, is assisting in the prosecution, was yesterday attending the funeral of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Block. The point was also made that Judge Pryor had so recently revised his ruling as to the indictment, holding all four counts good, that the Commonwealth had not had time to get ready under that condition of affairs.

Aaron Kohn, chief counsel for the defense, said that he was anxious for a trial, but did not press the point because of the reasons urged by the Commonwealth for a continuance.

A call of witnesses revealed the fact that Mamie Dawson, the negro woman who was employed by Dr. Murphy, and whom the Commonwealth regarded as a most important witness, was not present. Capt. James Hendricks said that she was at her home, in New Albany, in bed, though he had good reason to believe that there was nothing the matter with her. However, as she is without the jurisdiction of the Commonwealth, her presence cannot be compelled.

Sued Wrong Defendants.

By a ruling delivered by Special Judge Walter S. Lincoln, in Judge Gordon's court yesterday, the administrator of Leo Phanmoeller, fourteen years of age, was denied the right to recover damages for the death of the decedent, who was smothered in a grain bin at the distillery at Thirtieth street and Garland avenue on April 26, 1906. The suit had been brought for $25,000 against the Kentucky Distilleries and Warehouse Company, John G. Roach & Co. and W. C. Hahn, it being charged that the defendants carelessly allowed the boy to get into the bin when it was in a dangerous condition, and that he received no warning of his peril. Albert Kissler, another boy of the same age, was smothered at the same time.

The two defendant corporations produced evidence to show that they were entirely blameless because they did not own the property. Deeds were shown to the court which proved that the distillery in question was transferred to Julius Kessler & Co. about five years ago. When the plaintiffs found this to be the case they dismissed the action as to Hahn, who was manager at the distillery.

Children Seek Mother's Inheritance.

Carrie Bierbaum and Bertha Bierbaum Hesterman set up an unusual claim for $1000 against the estate of Charles F. Kircher, who died about a year ago. They charge in their petition filed yesterday that their mother, Caroline Weber Bierbaum, now dead, made Her home with the decedent from the time that she was five years of age until she was twenty-two. It is asserted that an agreement was made between her parents, the plaintiffs' grandparents, and Kircher that if she should live with him as his child he would bequeath her all his property. The plaintiffs say that by his will Kircher left his property to others and that Mrs. Bierbaum received nothing. They say that his estate at the time of his death was worth $10,000, therefore, under the alleged agreement, relative to their mother they ask for the whole of it.

Mrs. Bischoff Asks Divorce.

Daisy Bischoff yesterday afternoon brought suit for divorce against John Bischoff, charging cruelty. They were married November 4, 1903, and have lived together until May 3. The plaintiff prays the custody of their child, aged eighteen months. She avers that the defendant, while armed with a razor, has repeatedly threatened to kill her. The defendant is a son of Jacob Bischoff, who was formerly convicted of wife murder in the Criminal Court and sentenced to death. Shortly before the time appointed for his execution he was declared insane and sent to the Central Asylum.

Defendant Gets Verdict.

In the suit of Lula Schachleiter, executrix of William Schachleiter, against Bridget Queenan for $20,000 because of the decedent's death, a jury in Judge O'Doherty's court found for the defendant. The decedent, while a tenant in a house of the defendant at Nineteenth and Walnut streets is said to have stepped upon a defective cellar door and sustained a fall which resulted in concussion of the brain. The defense contended that ill-health caused his death.

Commissioner Gets Allowance.

An agreed order was entered yesterday in the Chancery division of the Circuit Court allowing the Commissioner $1,133.10 as his remuneration in the election contests. The principal part of his services extended over a period of eighty days in counting the ballots in the contested precincts. For this the allowance was at the rate of $6 a day. The rest of the charge was for incidentals.

Court of Appeals Decisions.

R. A. Marsee vs. S. W. Hager, etc.—Filed April 24, 1907.—(To be reported.) Appeal from Franklin Circuit Court. Opinion of the court by Judge Barker, affirming.

First—Normal Schools—Appropriation Therefor—Creating Additional Schools.—At the time the present Constitution of this State was framed a normal school for white persons was carried on as a part of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, at Lexington, Ky. The act of the Kentucky Legislature of March 21, 1906 (see Session Acts 1906, page 393), in practical effect is to separate the school into three parts, leaving the one at Lexington and establishing two others at different points in the State, one at Richmond and the other at Bowling Green.

Second—Act of March 21, 1906—Constitutionality — Dividing Appropriation.—There is nothing in Section 184, or any other part of the Constitution, that militates against the power of the Legislature to separate the normal school for white persons into as many parts as may be deemed appropriate, and to divide the appropriation between the different schools, as may be thought proper, and it will not be contended that the Legislature has not the power of making any appropriation it sees fit for the benefit of the normal school, as conducted under the auspices of the Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Third—Same—Submission to Vote—Necessity.—Normal schools are among the institutions for which, under the provisions of Section 184 of the Constitution, the Legislature is authorized to make appropriations, without submitting the question to a vote of the people, and the act of March 21, 1906, must be held valid.

Chinn & Edelen and Rohrer, Ainsworth & Dawson for appellant; N. B. Hayes, Attorney General; Charles H. Morris, McQuown & Brown and J. A. Sullivan for appellees.

Hall vs. Commonwealth.—Filed April 24, 1907. (Not to be reported.). Appeal from Wayne Circuit Court. Opinion of the court by Judge Barker, affirming.

Conspiracy — Evidence. — See Hall vs. Commonwealth, 29 R., 485, in which the facts are fully stated.

The Commonwealth having established the conspiracy between appellant and B. to murder W., the declarations of B., the conspirator, although not made in the presence of appellant, were competent evidence against him.

Sanders & Wallace for appellant; N. B. Hays, Attorney General; Charles H. Morris, Harrison & Harrison for appellee.

L. and N. Railroad Company vs. Commonwealth.—Filed April 24, 1907. (Not to be reported.) Appeal from Knox Circuit Court. Opinion of the court by Judge Barker, reversing.

Railroads—Intersection.—Appellant, pursuant to the provisions of Section 216 of the Constitution, being without power to prevent the connection with its road complained of, it is not responsible for the acts of Asher in causing the overflow complained of.

J. D. Black, J. W. Alcorn; Benjamin D. Warfield for appellant; N. B. Hays, Attorney General; Charles H. Morris, Morris & South for appellee.

B. and O. S.-W. R. R. Co. vs. Sheridan—Filed April 26, 1907—Appeal from Jefferson Circuit Court, Third C. P. Division—(Not to be reported.) Opinion of the court by Judge O'Rear, reversing.

Railroads—Instructions.—In this action by appellee for damages alleged to have resulted from being put upon the wrong train by appellant's agent, the instructions were erroneous in the assumption that fright attended her in getting on the wrong train, and that it was mistake on the part of the gateman that caused it. The question of exposure should not have been submitted to the jury for the reason that the petition does not charge exposure or discomfort for any cause. The instructions also erroneously left to the jury what she might in the future suffer. This should be regulated by the evidence and not by the judgment of the jury.

Sindens vs. Siddens—Filed April 25, 1907—Appeal from Allen Circuit Court—(Not to be reported.) Opinion of the court by Judge Hobson, reversing.

First—Husband and Wife—Contracts.—The husband seeks to be relieved of the contract made with his wife as to a division of their property because of his ignorance of her unfaithful conduct at the time it was made. But the proof indentes that he made the same charges before the making of the contract that he now makes. Moreover, such contracts are favorably considered by the courts, for they tend to quiet and hush up family disturbances.

Second—Same.—A husband seeking to be relieved of such a contract must show clearly that he was imposed upon, and here he fails to do so.

W. C. Goad, Porter & Sandidge for appellant; Baird & Richardson for appellee.

Williams vs. Commonwealth—Filed April 26, 1907—Appeal from Jefferson Circuit Court, Criminal Division—(Not to be reported.) Opinion of the court by Justice O'Rear, affirming.

Jeopardy—Plea of Former Jeopardy.—The defendant, after entering a plea of guilty, in making his statement to the jury, withdrew it and pleaded not guilty. The court at this point ordered the plea of guilty withdrawn and reassigned the case for another trial, at which he was adjudged guilty. There was no objection at the time to the court's withdrawal of the plea and the defendant's consent is deemed to have been given. Held—The plea of former jeopardy by the defendant is not good.

N. R. Harper for appellant; N. B. Hays, Attorney General; C. H. Morris, Morris & South, for appellee.

Prewitt vs. Hustonville Cemetery Company.—Filed April 30, 1907.—(Not to be reported.) Appeal from Lincoln Circuit Court. Opinion of the court by Judge Lassing, affirming.

Passways—Evidence. — In this controversy as to the right of passway, the evidence, and Held—That the trial court was warranted in finding that the use of the passway was merely permissive.

Second—Same.—The fact that appellant sometimes found the gate unlocked and used the passway was not such use as would be adverse within the meaning of the statute.

P. M. McRoberts for appellant; J. W. Alcorn for appellee.
